Committee votes tax cut

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Finance Committee today approved a $2 billion reduction in individual income tax rates that would give every taxpayer a $40 saving in his 1975 taxes.

The committee added the provision to a $21.3 billion tax cut voted by the House and made other changes increasing the House-passed figure to $28 billion.

The bill gives a tax cut of up to $2,000 to anyone who buys a home from April through December of this year.

The proposal to cut one percentage point from the first four tax brackets — those applying to the first $4,000 of taxable income on a joint return — was offered by Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Tex., as relief for middle and low income families whose tax bills, in effect, have been raised by inflation.

Today's action followed approval Thursday of other tax law changes designed mainly to help large families and home buyers.

The committee agreed to raise the House-approved tax break for business to $6.9 billion by increasing the investment tax credit to 12 per cent for the next two years, and allowing a permanent 10 per cent rate thereafter.

The credit now is 4 per cent for utilities and 7 per cent for other businesses.

Committee Chairman Russell B. Long estimates that all the tax cuts in the panel's final bill will total $31.5 billion, double the amount asked by Ford and $10 billion above the figure approved by the House.

Ford, in a surprise appearance at a labor-industry banquet Thursday night, said there is "an atmosphere of compromise now" in Washington and indicated he was willing to compromise on a tax cut bill with the Democratic-controlled Congress.

Long predicted his Finance Committee will finish writing the tax bill tonight. That would allow Senate debate to begin no later than Tuesday. This timetable would allow the Treasury to begin mailing tax-rebate checks out to every taxpayer by May 1.

The caucus of Senate Democrats agreed earlier Thursday that Congress will not start its Easter recess, now scheduled to begin March 21, until the tax cut bill is passed and sent to the White House.

The way for quick congressional action on the tax cut was cleared when:

—The Senate Democratic caucus agreed that oil-state senators should be allowed only two days to try to remove from the tax cut bill a repealer of the oil depletion allowance.

—The Senate postponed debate on an energy-conservation bill which threatened to delay action on the tax cut.

The Finance Committee voted to add these provisions to the $21.3-billion tax-cut package approved by the House:

—A 5 per cent tax credit, up to $2,000, for persons who buy a new or used house or mobile home as a principal residence between April 1, and Dec. 31, 1975. The cost: between $3 billion and $4 billion.

—Give each taxpayer the option of taking a $200-per-person tax credit instead of the present $750-per-person exemption. This would provide more benefits to families with two or more children that itemize deductions, and earn less than $20,000 a year. Under the proposal, a four-member family could deduct $800 from its tax bill instead of $3,000 from its taxable income.

The committee agreed tentatively to use this amendment by Sen. Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn., as a substitute for the increase in the standard deduction voted by the House.

Under present law, a family of four with $10,000 in income has an average tax bill of $905. The House action would cut that to $715, and if the Mondale amendment is approved, the figure would drop to $485.

Bolt cripples cypress

Missouri's largest tree may be dead or dying. This bald cypress on the Scott-Stoddard County line was struck by lightning during Tuesday night's thunderstorm when between 20 and 30 feet of its crown was blasted to the ground. The dwarfed figures examining the debris at the tree's base are Steven Alberson, left, of Bell City Route One, who reported the loss to the Missouri Department of Conservation, and Melvin Lancaster of Sikeston Route One. Alberson said he saw an orange glow as he passed a window in his house about midnight Tuesday and noticed the tree "going up like a chimney" when he looked more closely. The inside of the hollow tree was heavily damaged by fire that was still smouldering late Thursday.

Lightning blasts state's king tree

The department of Conservation said Wednesday that a bald Cypress at the Scott-Stoddard County line east of Bell City burned after being hit by lightning during a midnight storm Tuesday. The gnarled tree, with a 35-foot circumference, almost certainly will die, according to a spokesman for the Conservation Department. He said the tree was badly damaged and still smoldering Wednesday.

The tree was the second biggest cypress nationally to a tree in Tennessee, which measures 39 feet, eight inches in circumference.

"It's like losing an old friend," said John Wylie, assistant state forester with the department. "The only tree older in Missouri is an ash juniper on a bluff along Table Rock Lake."

"The cypress was a landmark you could see for miles. It had withstood the ravages of time. In 550 years, you get headaches. It had lost its crown twice either to wind or lightning and had lost many branches," Wylie said.

He said the tree was a remnant of the virgin forest that once existed all through Missouri's Bootheel.

"One old forester a half century ago counted the rings on a tree of similar size and the total was 500," Wylie said.

He estimated that the seed that started the cypress was born about the same time as Christopher Columbus.

There are other large cypress trees in the state, but none even closes to the age and size of the champion, Wylie said. He asked that anyone knowing of a champion sized cypress to succeed the old king to contact the state conservation office at Box 180, Jefferson City, Mo. 65101.

Robbery suspect wounded

BENTON — Jamie T. Walker, 18, of Benton was shot during an attempted robbery about 9:20 a.m. Thursday at the Scott County Highway Department barn, Sheriff John Dennis said today.

Walker and a male juvenile had stolen five batteries and were ready to leave, Dennis said, but were seen by Arthur Bernard, county conservation agent, who lives next door. The barn area is well lighted.

Bernard called Wayne Diamond, county highway superintendent, and asked him to approach the robbers in one direction while he would go in from another. Before Bernard left his home he tucked a pistol under his belt, Dennis said.

Bernard arrived about a minute ahead of Diamond and asked Walker and the boy what they were doing there.

Walker, standing with one side away from Bernard, whirled and pulled a pistol. Bernard drew his weapon about the same time and told Walker to drop the gun.

Walker pulled the hammer to his pistol back and said, "You drop yours."

Bernard then fired a shot that

Gas rates to rise next week

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Rates for natural gas service in southeast, west central and north central Missouri will rise next week as a result of a Missouri Public Service Commission decision.

In an order issued Thursday, the commission authorized a $252,000 increase for Arkansas-Missouri Power Co. and a $1.1 million boost for its subsidiary, Associated Natural Gas Co.

Pending the filing of schedules outlining what increases would be imposed on the various service areas of the company, the increases are expected to become effective March 22.

The Ark-Mo boost was sought to equalize rates with those of Associated Natural Gas. While the PSC said evidence showed the request should have been about 80 per cent higher to insure a "fair and reasonable" return for the company, it refused to grant a higher increase than what the company had requested.

The commission was overruled by a circuit court last year when it authorized a higher than originally requested rate increase for the Kansas City Power & Light Co.

The proposal by Associated Natural Gas, which had originally sought a $1.2 million increase, to apply the boost evenly to all customers was rejected by the PSC, which said differences in profit made by the utility in the three regions it serves would have to be considered.

Blackburn announces for council

Bill Blackburn

Blackburn is a home improvement salesman for Sears Roebuck & Co. He has lived in Sikeston, with his wife and two children, for seven years, and has taken an active interest in the civic affairs of the community.

He retired from the National Guard in 1974, as a first sergeant, after serving 26 years. He is a past president of the Sikeston camp of Gideons International, a former Cub Scout leader and is currently president of the Sikeston Optimist Club.

Blackburn and his family are members of First Church of the Nazarene, where he serves as a church bus driver.

Blackburn stated that he is interested in the working man's position in Sikeston and in seeing the city progress.

When elected, Blackburn said that his phone will always be open to citizens who have questions or suggestions concerning problems of the community.

Snow covers burglar tracks

CHARLESTON — Thursday night's snowfall apparently aided burglars who broke into Buckner-Ragsdale on south Main Street, covering their tracks and those of the vehicle used to carry off a large assortment of clothing.

Police Chief Bob Ritchey said the break-in was discovered about 8 a.m. today when the store was opened. A mesh wire covering a window at the rear of the building was cut to gain entry and the stolen articles were then apparently taken from the store through the back door, which opens into an alley.

Clothing reported missing this morning was 72 men's suits, 40 women's pantsuits, 40 sport coats, 14 pairs of men's Levi's, 64 bluejean shirts, and nine boys all-weather coats.

Stoddard farmers told Japan wants soybeans

DEXTER — Approximately 200 Stoddard County farmers and bankers attended the second meeting of the newly organized United Farmers Organization Thursday nigt at Dexter High School auditorium.

Three additional members were elected to the advisory Board, including Fred Tanner and Larry Riley of Bernie, and Bill Smith of Puxico.

Guest speaker for the evening was Wayne French of Advance, who recently completed a tour of Japan and Taiwan with the Missouri Soybean Association.

"It's a different world in those countries," French told the farmers. "A farm there is approximately two and a half acres and they cultivate rice with water buffalo, usually harvesting three crops a year. However," he continued, "in Taiwan, I saw hogs being raised equal to any in our country. They are not as backward as we are led to believe. They want our soybeans and will buy as long as they have dollars," he said.

"Japanese would like to live like Americans and their greatest hope is to eat like we do. The question most asked in Japan," he said, was "can we buy United States soybeans?

"Farmers have been told to expect erratic weather conditions during the next few years," he continued, "which could mean poor growing seasons. The consumer, however, is not going to look at the weather pattern and the consumer has more votes than the farmer.

"We must cut our production," he siad, "but we will have problems even with a 20 per cent reduction. Most of us will put our best land into production as Secretary of Agriculture Earl Butz has stated we will, but we must keep production down. If we can just meet the nation's and world's supply we will be in good shape. However, if we underproduce, we can hurt our market."

"A union worker in this country invests about $3.98 for a lunch bucket and gets a return on his investment from $15,000 to $20,000 per year," Joe Vinson of Sikeston, told the farmers. "Why shouldn't the farmer expect the same return on his investment. The consumers of this country want cheap bread on the union table. The farmers share of a loaf of bread is approximately four cents and you know what the price of a loaf of bread is. We are not the reason for the increase in food prices."

"If we gave our products away," Everett Craig of Essex, told the group, "this would still not bring prices down. We must convince the consumer farmers are not making money."

The next meeting will be held at the Bernie High School. A definite date will be announced later.

A joint meeting of the Southeast Missouri and Southern Illinois United Farmers groups is being planned for the near future and will be held at Cape Girardeau.

9 hurt in SeMo accidents

Eight person were injured in three separate accidents in the Southeast Missouri area Thursday and one woman was injured early today, according to the highway patrol.

On Interstate 55, three miles north of Hayti, a tractor-trailer truck treaveling south collided with a quarter ton United States Army jeep, injuring the truck driver and three men in the jeep.

George Dozier, 32, of Indianapolis, Ind., drove his truck into the back of the southbound jeep driven by Jimmy Wright, 22, of Salem, Ky. Passengers in the jeep were L. T. Brown, 37, Eddyville, Ky., and Ronald Garrett, 28, of Carmi, Ill.

The patrol said Dozier apparently came up behind the jeep too fast and ran into the back of the vehicle.

All four men received minor injuries and were taken to Pemiscot County Memorial Hospital in Hayti.

Three persons from Arcadia received minor injuries in a one-vehicle accident at 3:50 p.m. on Highway 72, three miles west of Fredericktown.

Schuchart seeks council seat

Schuchart is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Emil J. Schuchart Sr. and a life-long resident of Sikeston.

He attended University of Missouri - Columbia, where he received a bachelor's degree in business administration in 1971. He then returned to Sikeston and is now occupied as a farmer.

Long concerned with the future growth and prosperity of Sikeston, 26-year-old Schuchart believes he has a solid background in business and property management that should be valuable in filling the position he seeks. As a licensed real estate broker and business major, he is primarily concerned with the regulation of property zoning and the city's current tax structure.

ECONOMICAL COMPROMISE

It will be years, possibly a decade, before the government's antitrust suit against the communications giant, American Telephone and Telegraph (AT&T), is settled. One estimate is that the legal costs alone could come to $70 million.

The time, effort and money that will be required of both AT&T and the Justice Department might better be spent elsewhere, says Business Week in an editorial.

Perhaps most important of all, it says, long drawn-out litigation could impair the company's ability to raise the immense amount of capital it needs to keep pace with growing demand. One immediate result of the government's action was AT&T's cancellation of $600-million financing program.

The magazine recommends that both sides consider the possibility of a compromise. Both the U.S. economy and AT&T security holders would benefit, it says, by an agreement separating Western Electric, the Bell manufacturing facility, from the operating companies.

"Such a separatoin of unregulated business from regulated operations has worked in the electric and gas utilities, where it was decreed years ago by the Utility Holding Company Act," the editorial points out.

"The regulated companies as well as the unregulated segment — the industries that supply generating and transmission equipment and the makers of consumer electrical appliances — have all prospered."

As for the argument that cutting Western Electric off from AT&T might slow technological progress, "times have changed," says Business Week. "There are plenty of companies now capable of making high-quality communications equipment."

AT&T, it says, might well find that more competition from the supply side would be good for it.

This year, as every worker knows, the Social Security tax bite has gone up again -- to a maximum of $825 on the first $14,100 of wages or salary. This is in addition to the federal income tax.

It's reached the point, says the Tax Foundation, Inc., where this matter of being hit twice on the same income is beginning to involve a sizable sum of money.

Consider a married man with two children who will earn exactly $14,100 this year.

If his federal income tax were figured on the amount left after his $825 Social Security tax had been withheld, he would pay $154 less in income tax.

On the other way, if his Social Security tax were based on the income remaining after the federal income tax was withheld, that would be $93 less.

The federal government, of course, doesn't see it that way in applying both taxes to the same income. It has always taxed as "income" the employe's share of the Social Security tax.

Most state and local governments extend the tax-on-tax process a step further by not allowing the deductibility of either federal income or Social Security taxes when figuring income.

There's one bright spot. The employer's matching Social Security contribution is not considered as part of a worker's income. Thus nobody -- so far -- has slapped a tax on it.

If everyone were practical all of the time, many things that have been done would never have been tried. Would Charles Lindbergh even have attempted his solo trip across the Atlantic in The Spirit of St. Louis if he hadn't believed in something that the average person at the time would have said was impossible? But Lindbergh landed in Paris, and the world was never the same again. Americans, inspired by that historic flight, were asked just 14 years later to man the greatest air armada the world has ever seen, the U.S. Air Force of World War II. The "impossible" age of the atom and space came next in fast succession, and the world moves on.

A job calls forth initiative and bolsters self-respect. A handout diminishes both. The person who invests in an enterprise that provides jobs performs a humanitarian act. Food Stamps Abused

Nothing makes the hard-working taxpayer hotter under the collar than to stand in the checkout line of a local grocery and see some well-dressed shopper haul out stamps to take home some exotic delectable that he can not afford. More often than not, this same food stamper hauls himself into a right fair looking automobile and sets sail down the boulevard.

To our overburdened taxpayer we offer the following editorial from the Nevada Daly Mail:

Among the many federal programs that are completely out of control, none, it seems to us, has been so rankly abused as food stamps. Without belitting or criticizing those who are legitimately entitled to use them, it seems to us that every other person in the check-out line at our grocery store pays off with food stamps.

It really isn't that bad, of course, but it's bad enough: 13 million Americans use them, and it is estimated that in another two years as many as 60 million-one out of every four Americans-will be receiving food stamps at the expense of the other three.

In one of his recent broadcasts, Ronald Reagan recalled that when he was governor of California he received a telephone call from an irate father in another state. Why, demanded the father who earns $100,000 a year, why was California providing his son with food stamps while the young man was attending college there? Reagan had to explain that under present federal regulations a full-time student living away from home could qualify for food stamps at the taxpayers expense even if his father earned a million dollars a year.

Nor was that all. Reagan knew of 14-year-old runaways who lived in communes on food stamps. Even strikers are eligible, which, Reagan said, takes the government out of its traditional role in being neutral inlabor disputes and puts it in the position of subsidizing strikes.

A few monghs ago, a college teacher in Salina, Kan., whosesalarywas inexcess of $10,000 a year, was reporting using food stamps to feed himself, his wife and their four children.

Similar abuses must be common everywhere.

It's all a long way from the original intent of the food stamp program. Started in 1964, it was intended to be a plan for distributing agricultural surpluses to the needy. Initially, there were only some 400,000 recipients.

Now, even though there are no longer any agricultural surpluses- in fact, the oposite is true- the number of food stamp recipients has increased by 3,150 per cent in a decade.

Considering today's broad scale of food stamp distribution, President Ford is clearly justified in suggesting that the cost of the stamps to the recipients should be increased-a proposal that has been granted with a abhorrence by many congressmen.

Oddly, we've seen no evidence that anyone in a position of power-save, possibly, Reagan- is demanding that the food stamp Program be confined to its original purpose: Helping those who are genuinely unable to help themselves.

There is no logical reason to expect taxpayers to suport college students, teenage runaways or improvident college professors.

Rather than increasing the cost of food stamps to those who actually need them for their existence, economies should be made by removing the underserving from the food stamp rolls.

Further, as Reagan suggests, this welfare program (for what it is) should be removed from the Department of Agriculture, where it absorbs a third of the department's budget, to the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, where it belongs.

Legislative Costs

To stop the excessive self-serving spending by Missouri legislators, Gov. Christopher S. Bond owes it to the citizens of this state to veto a substantial amount of tax dollars appropriated for the legislature.

The General Assembly even added $475,000 to the emergency appropriation bill for its own use. This includes $237,000 for the 34-member Senate and $238,000 for the 163-member House.

Sen. William Cason of Clinton, the Senate president pro tem and a candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, last May challenged Gov. Christopher S. Bond to hold down administrative expenses in the executive branch as sharply as he intended to do in the Senate.

"We do not plan to ask for any increase at all in the appropriations to operate the Senate next year-not one penny more," Cason vowed.

At the time of Cason's speech, $1,235,322 was appropriated for the Senate contingency fund for the current year. But the Senate has proposed $1,754,069 for its contingency fund for next year, an increase of $518,747 or $15,257 per senator. That seems a bit more than "one penny."

Records also show that Cason's secretary receives $14,400 a year while Bond's secretary receives $11,340 a year. The House Speaker-s secretary is paid $7,560 a year.

In addition to the 197 legislators, records show that the General Assembly is employng 42 full time employes.

Last Year Bond vetoed $1.1 million of a $7.4 million appropriation for the legislature on the grounds that it was excessive. Even though the legislature will meet only four months next year instead of the 5½ month session this year the budget calls for spending $7.2 million.

Approval of the additional emergency funds would push legislative spending for the current fiscal year to about $7.2 million, about $1 milion more than its original appropriation.

The legislature screams loudly when state agencies overspend their appropriations. But members of the legislature didn't even debate the extra $475,000 it slipped into the emergency appropriation bill for themselves.

Not to be outdone by the Senate, the House has spent $15,800 in tax dollars to create a plush private restroom, complete with a lounge, carpeting and a speaker system that allows members to follow the action on the House floor.

The plush restroom was constructed even though thre is a large public restroom less than 15 feet from the entrance to the House chamber. (Jefferson City News Tribune.)

Independent Business Optimistic in Small Towns

Evidently independent business people do not seem to place much credence in economists, or politicians for that matter.

Although professional economists both in and out of government, as well as some government leaders continue to issue gloomy forecasts over the future of the nation's business health, the independent business community is not sharing their views.

In fact,they are moreoptimistic over the business conditons during the next six months than they have been at any time since April 1974.

Data tgathered from a selective sample of the NFIB membership in January shows that 31.1 per cent of the respondents expected improved business conditions in the next six months as against 19 per cent who felt that way in October, 22, per cent who looked to better times last July and slightly higher than the flat 31 per cent who looked for better times last April.

On the pessimistic side only 2.1 per cent expect conditions to get worse. This is the smallest percentage of dyed-in-the-wool pessimists registered in the past 18 months. In October, 7 per cent looked for the wrost to happen.

This surge of optimism is registered in all fields, but is expecially pronounced among independent retailers. Of the resondents in this category, 30 per cent see better times ahead, or almost double the number who felt that way in October.

Perhaps part of this new found independent retailer optimism is due to the widely publicized declines of many of the nation's big corporate discount chains plus the troubles being encountered by other corporate entities. This condition evidently channels a greater hare of consumer trade to independent outlets.

As perhaps to be expected when optimism increases among independent retailers this is also reflected among independent wholesalers with 38 per cent of these respondents win January expecting better times ahead compared to 21 per cent who were in that mood in October.

Even independent builders are more optimistic, with 32.3 per cent looking for better times as compared to 23 per cent who felt that way in October.

The only pessimistic cloud at present is among some agriculturally-oriented businesses where only 21.1 per cent see better times ahead as compared to 22 per cent in October.

Any analysis of the NFIB surveys has to take into consideration that approximately 70 per cent of the respondents are located in non-metropolitan areas and thus the majority do not reflect the experiences of the huge cities.

So this survey shows why Sikeston among the smaller Missouri cities is still a "pocket of prosperity" in comparision to the bust-and-boom of the big cities.

Inside Labor

NEW YORK--Last Saturday night some 900 labor people gathered in the banquet hall of Chicago's Pick-Congress Hotel to cheer and praise a departing comrade. To all but insiders the testimonial dinner was just another traditional ritual for a retiring labor official. It was virtually unnoticed and unreported. But to informed observers the bread-breaking was a significant reflection of a dangerous naivete on the part of some powerful men.

The dinner was thrown for someone called Ernest DeMaio. He was retiring as an official of the historically left- United Electrical Workers. He now is going on to "greater" things--such as becoming the representative in the United Nations of the Soviet-controlled World Federation of Trade Unions (WFTU).

First, as we say on the tube, a word about this WFTU. It is a Moscow-run network of Communist unions operating out of occupied Prague, Czechoslovakia. It claims some 160 million members. Of course, most of them are in the Soviet Union. It is the avowed enemy of the United States in general and capitalism and American enterprise in particular.

This WFTU has a headquarters here run by Soviet-oriented officers. They take their orders from the central headquarters in Prague--which takes its line from the Soviet Communist party's Central Committee in Moscow. This authority is concentrated in the All-Union Central Committee of Trade Unions of the USSR. This is what passes for a Russian labor movement.

Its chairman is 56-year-od Aleksandr Nikolaevich Shelepin. He's tough. He's a former all-Soviet Union spy master. He has made some of the toughest anti-American speeches since the late Joseph Stalin. It was Shelepin who was dispatched to Cairo some years ago to whip up Egypt and other Arab nations into a frenzy against the U.S. and israil.

In intelligence circles Shelepin is considered a "brut." The record is clear. In 1958 he was named chief of the Soviet state security forces known as the KGB. It's a killer espionage and counter-intelligence force. Its record is clear too. So much so, it needs only one line in passing.

Shelepin came to the KGB fully qualfied. In 1962 he was appointed chief of the inner Communist Party State Control Committee. This is the intra-party purge and police-unit.

He is anti-cultural. He is death to all religions. He is, thus, whether you look at his record on art or the brutalizing of Boris Pasternak, the perfect Stalinist prototype (though on orders from the late Nikita Khrushchev he purged the Stalinist-Beria secret police).

For the pain he inflicted on others he was made a member of the Soviet inner circle--the Communist party's (USSR) Politburo. He is one of a handful of men who run the Soviet Union. As chairman of the so-called labor movement, his specialty now is world labor.

As chairman of the Soviet "Unions," Shelepin is scheduled to lead a Russian labor delegation to Britian next month. There's an outcry against permitting him into the United Kingdom. Home Secretary Roy Jenkins has been besieged by those demanding Shelepin be denied a visa--because among those he has purged and fought are trade unionists.

This, then, is the man who dominates the WFTU. Its headquarters here, which has observer status at the UN, has run interference for the Palestine Liberation Organization which now is attempting to destroy peace negotiations in the Middle East.

The WFTU lobbies against the U.S. It attempts to turn third-world nations against us. It is a reflection of the Soviets' hardest lines. Which is natural. Shelepin is a hard-liner. Detente is not in his glossary.

Thus when Ernest DeMaio represents the WFTU in the UN official observer ranks, he will talk for an organization which has flayed the U.S. from Hanoi to Pyongyang to the East Side glass tower here.

Yet when it was announced that DeMaio would leave Chicago, and there would be a testimonial to him, many Amerian labor people broke with the official AFL-CIO policy and sponsored the banquet.

Among these were the Amalgamated Meat Cutters secretary-treasurer Pat Gorman; its vice president Charles Hayes; some United Auto Workers leaders including, surprisingly enough, vice president Pat Greathouse.

Also Ed Sadlowski, director of the United Steelworkers' biggest section, District 31 (who wants very much to succeed incumbent national president I.W. Abel when the latter retires in a few years).

Of course, there was the West Coast longshoremen's union president Harry Bridges. With his pro-Communist background we can unerstand this. But why the others? Why Detroit's Mayor Coleman Young?

After all, detente may, to some, mean cooling it and doing some business--but why do business with those who do business with Shelepin's favorite project?

By JACK ANDERSON with
Les Whitten

WASHINGTON — In their zeal to nail crooked narcotics agents, federal inspectors have used Watergate-style tactics, which have violated the laws they sought to enforce.

One detective, accused of taking a bribe in a dubious case, was told he had three choices: He could cooperate with the inspectors, take his chances on a prison term or commit suicide. He shot himself to death after pleading his innocence in a suicide note.

We have uncovered several elaborate hoaxes, which were developed by the inspectors to entrap agents. Sometimes, the inspectors actually instigated crimes to determine whether suspected lawmen would take bribes.

The overzealous inspectors used bugged informants, phony identification papers and other tactics reminiscent of the notorious White House plumbers.

The questionable cases seem to center upon Andy Tartaglino, the soft-spoken, bespectacled former No. 2 man at the Drug Enforcement Administration. It was Tartaglino, for example, who made the fatal suicide suggestion.

His supporters describe him as a "brilliant and innovative" investigator. But we have learned that his tactics have forced the government to drop the prosecution of at least half a dozen cases.

In one case, a narcotics agent was provided with a phony identity and two loaded pistols. He was purposely arrested on a firearms charge. Then he bribed a New York assistant district attorney to help him beat the rap.

Judge Henry Friendly threw out the case on jurisdictional grounds. But he also scolded Tartaglino and the prosecutors for attempting "to set up a federal crime."

Declared the judge: "We do not at all share the government's price in its achievement of causing the bribery of a state district attorney by a scheme which involved lying to New York police officers and perjury before New York judges and grand jurors."

The court records in another case charge that an underworld informant, working with Tartaglino, "violated the federal narcotics laws without being arrested for the violation and was arrested for other criminal acts but not prosecuted."

The informant was used to get evidence against two narcotics agents. Tartyaglino's conduct of the investigation, according to our sources, led to a suspended sentence for one of the defendants.

The mild-mannered Tartaglino, while acknowledging his role in these investigations, told us the prosecutors made the decision to go ahead.

We sent our associate Bob Owens to New York City to check out the suicide case, which involved a New York police detective named Joe Nunziata. Ironically, Nunziata wasn't the target of the investigation. Tartaglino merely wanted to bring pressure on him to cooperate.

At government expense, Tartaglino flew a former informant, Carlo Dandolo, to the United States from Italy. Dandalo was given 12 grams of rare, pure heroin belonging to the government. By a complex set of circumstances, he was arrested and wound up in the custody of Nunziata and his partner.

Tartaglino instructed Dandolo to attempt to bribe the officers. The first attempt, say our sources, was rejected. But subsequently, they accepted the bribe. They were playing along with Dandolo, they claimed, in order to make a case against him.

But Tartaglino, according to our sources, brought intense pressure on Nunziata to cooperate with the investigation. Our sources said Tartaglino told Nunziata his police career was finished, winding up with the three options. Nunziata could cooperate, face jail or commit suicide. He sat down and wrote a three-page letter in longhand.

"I dedicated my life to my job," he wrote. "I've also ignored my family to a point of disgust on my part ... I have two children whom I love and a wife I adore."

The charge that he had accepted a bribe from Carlo Dandolo, he declared, was an "insult."

"Now, though, I know it was all a hoax on (the government's) part, to make it appear as if we accepted a gratuity from C.D. That, my friends, is an insult so severe that I will not allow this embarrassment to affect this job or anyone I've ever been associated with."

They had fed Dandolo a line, Nunziata said, in order to nail him. "Any conversation that was had with C.D. was total lies. ... I hate to disappoint anyone, but it was all lies. I must've really been convincing, that would only prove how effective I was in my job."

Nunziata said he "had been driven to this pointof no return. Nothing was done, was done with criminal intent." Then he killed himself.

Footnote: Tartaglino confirmed that he had raised the suicide option, but said the version given by our sources was "out of context." Another witness, who heard Tartaglino's diatribe against Nunziata, told us: "In view of what happened, it sounds more sinister than what the facts would support." But other sources said Tartaglino's handling of Nunziata was severe.

6 candidates file for Dexter board

Employees of more than 700 different businesses and agencies in the St. Louis area are enrolled in the University of Missouri - St. Louis Evening College.

DEXTER — Six candidates have filed for the three seats on the board of aldermen to be filled in the April 1 city election, according to city clerk Margaret Poyner.

A three-way race has developed in ward three, where incumbent James T. Williams will be opposed by James Terry Cobb and Tom Nunn. Nunn, who filed previously, withdrew his name from the list of candidates the same day, then decided to refile at a later date.

Ward one incumbent, Eldon Cooper will be opposed by David E. Davis.

2 attempts to change state election laws fail

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — House Speaker Richard Rabbitt ruled as out of order Thursday attempts to tack amendments onto a bill revising paper ballots which would have changed primary election dates and dropped party preference declarations.

Minority Floor Leader Robert Snyder sought to amend the bill eliminating the requirement to rotate candidate names on paper ballots by adding a provision changing primary elections from August to September.

In addition, Rep. Irene Treppler, R-St. Louis, tried to add another amendment ending the requirement that voters declare their party preference in election primaries.

But Rabbitt ruled them both out of order, saying they had nothing to do with the subject of ths bill under considerattion.

Little objection was raised to Snyder's motion being overruled, but Republicans, joined by St. Louis Democrat Steve Vossmeyer, objected to the ruling that Rep. Treppler's motion was out of order.

In a nearly strict party line vote, the House sustained the ruling of the speaker 85-38.

"I think if we could ever get it to a vote, it would pass," Rep. Treppler said after the ruling. Separate bills have been introduced this session whcih would accomplish the goals of both defeated amendments.

The original bill abolishing rotation of names on ballots was tentatively approved, and its sponsor, Rep. Gerold Drake, D-Grant City, said the bill could save up to $40,000 in a statewide election.

The measure still faces final approval in the Senate, where bills to revise the criminal code and require all new curbs and gutters to be built with ramps for the handicapped were amended.

The criminal code revision bill, designed to rewrite the state's 140-year-old criminal code by restructuring penalty procedures and replacing outmoded language, was amended to include an effective date of October 1977 rather than January 1976.

It also was amended to require sheriffs to issue gun permits to qualified applicants within three days of application, while allowing the sheriffs to take fingerprints of applicants.

The bill requiring ramps on new curbs and gutters for the handicapped was set aside for later study, as was the criminal code.

Board accepts resignation

SCOTT CITY — Lucian Richards has submitted his resignation as a teacher in the Illmo- Scott City school system, effective at the end of the current school year. The school board accepted the resignation.

Mrs. Marilyn Kingree, a first grade teacher, was granted a one-year leave of absence by the school board. Mrs. Gloria Eastman, who also teaches in the district, will fill Mrs. Kingree's position.

All nontenure teachers have been rehired for the 1975-76 school year. Tenure teachers have until May 1 to decide if they wish to continue teaching in the district.

Nonetenure teachers are those who have taught five years or less in the district. Any teacher rehired for the sixth year is given tenure.

Mrs. Geri Zimmerman was rehired as school nurse.

Supt. J. A. Holmes announced that the roof furnace for the addition to the high school is to be shipped and installed soon. When this is done, he said that heat can be applied to completely dry out the building. Floor tile can then be laid and the rest of the painting can be completed.

Cooper to be moved back to Dunklin jail

KENNETT — Frank Junior Cooper, 24, formerly of the Kennett-Bragg City area, reportedly will not be returned to Dunklin County to face first-degree murder charges until the new jail is completed.

Cooper is presently serving a prison term in the Missouri State Penitentiary after being sentenced on Feb. 26 in Jackson County on robbery and burglary charges. Cooper was scheduled to be returned to Dunklin County immediately after the sentencing to face the murder charge stemming from the shooting death of his Kansas City companion whose body was found outside Kennett on a ditch bank four days after the murder.

It has been learned, however, that because Jackson County authorities failed to notify Dunklin County Pros. Atty. Charles H. Baker to prepare the necessary papers for his return, Cooper was transferred on to Jefferson City where he has begun serving the sentence.

Baker said that since Cooper was in custody at this time he would not instigate proceedings for his return to Dunklin County until the new jail is completed, for security reasons.

Inspection tests to be required

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP)—Liquid propane gas installation inspection tests will be required beginning Saturday on every mobile home initially set or reset after being moved to a new location, according to the state Division of Weights and Measures.

The Liquified Gas Inspection Authroity is requiring the inspection tests to insure safety in all mobile homes, whose residents make up "one of the largest consumers of home heating gas in the state of Missouri."

Installation requirements are those of the American Standards Institute with the responsibility for obtaining the inspection resting with the mobile home owner.

No LPG installation should be made without the proper inspection, the division said.

What's the law?

The case of the ducky hunters

The Case of the Ducky Hunters
By JACK STRAUSS, LL.B.

Ike and Mike weren't much for protocol. Consequently, when they decided to go duck hunting on Mr. Hoople's property, they sought neither his permission nor his consent. They simply set up their duck blind and floated several decoys. And while their decoys didn't fool any ducks, they apparently did fool Mr. Hoople who had also decided it was a ducky day to go duck hunting.

Seeing the decoys, Mr. Hoople fired two shots at them with .22 rifle intending to scare them in the air. Instead, he winged Ike in the arm and shot Mike in the leg. And, in due course, his would-be trophies sued him for their injuries.

"What do they want from me," protested Mr. Hoople in court. "I didn't shoot them on purpose. I was after ducks, not trespassers. I didn't even know they were there."

"While he may not have shot us purposely," was the answer, "he shot us carelessly. He not only failed to distinguish the decoys from the real thing, he was hunting water fowl with a .22 rifle which is against the law. No matter how you slice it, the guy boobed it."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you hold Mr. Hoople liable for bagging Ike and Mike?

This is how the judge ruled: NO! The judge held that a trespasser takes the premises as he finds it. The only obligation owned by a property owner to a tespasser is not to injure him willfully or intentionally. And, in this case, noted the judge, neither Ike nor Mike were intentionally nor willfully injured since, in the exercise of reasonable care, Mr. Hoople did not know they were on his property.

As for Mr. Hoople's use of a .22 rifle contrary to law, concluded the judge, it has no bearing on the case since the law was intended to protect migratory water fowl and not those who seek to kill them.

At Wit's End

By Erma Bombeck

About the only comfort I can see in getting sick is that you immediately become the focus of attention and concern.

I have friends who, when they become ill, receive 40 pounds of Indian jewelry from their husbands, a pot of mums from the gang in the office and casseroles and baked goods from well-meaning neighbors.

No matter what disease decks me, there is always "a lot of it going around."

I could be suffering from a dinosaur bite and my doctor would say, "Everyone in town's got it. Just go to bed, take a lot of liquids, and call me if the leg falls off."

On a scale of ten these days, sympathy for the common cold is running about a two, compassion for flu, a two and a half; and concern for pneumonia, a declining four.

I expect any day to have a phone number for Dial-A-Cure where all the people with aching bodies, raging fevers and nausea dial for assistance, or when possible go to a group meeting at the lodge hall where they will distribute mimeographed cure sheets.

At a party the other night, just before I fainted, I confided to a friend, "I've got this ringing in my ears, a rash ring around my stomach, shortness of breath and my hair is falling out."

"I'm just getting over it," she yawned.

"I had it last year," said the woman next to her.

"Oh, that," said another guest. "I got a touch of it when my 16-year-old was learning how to drive."

"Did you get a fever of 105. . ." asked the first woman.

"Well, no. . ."

She winced, "Too bad. It goes with the disease. And I don't suppose you had to summon a priest. . ."

"No, but I watched Danny Thomas on the Mike Douglas Show."

"Actually, what you're dealing with is your ordinary, common, garden variety breakdown," sighed another bored listener. "It's been done to death this year. It was only a one-parter on Marcus Welby and Reader's Digest gave it a paragraph in the Amusing Anecdote section."

Somehow I have the feeling if I were Marie Antoinette and confided to my best friend, "I think I'm going to be beheaded," she would probably admonish, "So, you should have gotten shots when you had the chance."

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Stubbs

Chaffee couple marks anniversary

CHAFFEE — Mr. and Mrs. Clyde M. Stubbs celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary March 2 with a reception and an open house at the American Legion Hall. The event was hosted by the couple's three sons, James Stubbs Sr., Eugene Stubbs and Lynn Stubbs.

The serving table, covered with a floor-length white cloth, was accented with gold bows and streamers. A six-tiered cake was decorated with gold roses and topped with a cluster of gold wedding bells centered the table.

An arrangement of yellow roses and white chrysanthemums centered the gift table covered with a gold cloth. A framed family tree listed the names of Mr. and Mrs. Stubbs and their children and grandchildren. It was designed and embroidered by Mrs. Jean Stubbs, eldest granddaughter of the Stubbs.

The foyer of the Legion Hall was decorated with a large pot of gold chrysanthemums and gold streamers. Nancy Stubbs, youngest granddaughter attended the guest book.

Servers were granddaughters, Janey Stubbs, Mrs. Jean Stubbs, Mrs. Mindy LeFevre, and Kathy Stubbs. Also present were five grandsons, Russell, Eddie, Neil, Steve and Jim Jr.

Stubbs and the former Ruth Wilson were married Marech 7, 1925 at Cairo, Ill., by the Rev. Hood with Gusta Watson and Ethel McClain as witnesses.

The first few years of their married life were spent in East St. Louis, Ill., St. Louis, Mo.; and Benton. In 1930 the couple moved to Chaffee where Stubbs joined his father, H. F. "Major" Stubbs in operating Stubbs Hardware and Funeral Home. The firm has been in business since 1905 and is currently managed by the third generation of Stubbs.

Ann Landers

Unwed mother is crazy with worry

Dear Ann Landers: I am a girl 20 and nearly crazy with worry. Please don't give me a sermon or tell me where I went wrong. You couldn't say anything to me that I haven't already said to myself.

I am nearly seven months pregnant and look like I'm ready to deliver any minute. The guy who I think got me pregnant is married. He says if I try to pin this on him, he'll go to court and prove I was promiscuous. Unfortunately, he could do it.

I want to go to a home for unwed mothers, and give the baby up for adoption. My mother wants me to keep the baby. My little sister died ten years ago, and Mom is sure God set us this child to replace her.

What my mother doesn't know is that the father might be black. She is very prejudiced against black people and she'd probably kill me. But it would get her off my back. Should I tell her. . --Trapped.

Dear T.: NO. Check into a home as soon as possible. Since you've had serveral lovers and have no way of knowing for sure who fathered this child, don't make additional trouble for yourself. You have plenty.

Dear Ann Landers:: My mother-in-law is a lovely person -- don't get me wrong. But she has started something I can't seem to stop and it is creating serious problems.

Our two children, four and six years of age, are the stars in Grandma's crown. She adores them. Every time Grandma comes to the house (at least twice a week) she brings gifts for the children.

This has become such a habit that they expect everyone who comes to the house to have gifts for them. Several times recently they have asked friends, business associates and other relatives, "What did you bring us. . ."

How can I stop my mother-in-law from continuing this practice. I asked her once and she replied, "Please don't deny me this great pleasure." What now. . --Sideliner Mom.

Dear Mom: Get off the sidelines and into the game where you belong. Tell Grandma that her great pleasure is making "gimme pigs" out of your children and you can nolonger allow her to bring gifts except for birthdays, Christmas and perhaps when she returns from an out-of-town trip.

And you can do something else. Instruct your children that they are not to ask anyone, "What did you bring me. . ." And tell them in a way that they'll know you mean business.

Dear Ann Landers: You have always been opposed to woman nagging their husbands. Well, what if his life is in danger. . That is the situation in our house and I feel it is my DUTY to nag him.

Gerald is at least 60 pounds overweight, yet he drinks a six-pack of beer every night before he goes to sleep (or passes out, I don't know which.). He also smokes three packs of cigarets a day and almost burned the house down twice in the lasts four years. (Both times he fell asleep in front of the TV with a cigaret in his hand.)

I believe a woman is derelict in her duty if she keeps her mouth shut and lets her husband eat or smoke himself to death. Her nagging could add years to his life. --Pittsburgh Wife.

Dear Wife: Who wants more years like that. . Nagging a man to quit smoking or eat less has never worked, and it never will. You cannot save people from themselves.

. . . knowing when to keep your lip zipped.

Irish celebrate Monday

Rosie's corn beef is St. Pat's delight

By CHERIE BLANTON

I guess you all realize that Monday is St. Patrick's Day, and I think instead of just going around wearing green to get in the spirit of things; I think we all ought to put a real Irish dinner on the table for our family. Thus, I got in touch with Rosie Barkett who always celebrates (she wasn't Rosie O'Grady, but practically), the "wearin of the green" and she gave me her menu for this delightful day.

ROSIE'S CORN BEEF

Buy a nice corn beef from your favorite butcher, rinse it off, and cook as directed on the package. When tender, remove meat and add quartered potatoes, carrots and cabbage to the liquid and cook ½ hour more or 'til tender. Add meat and reheat and serve.

Now, make this sauce and have it ready to put on the corn beef if desired.

SOUR CREAM and HORSERADISH SAUCE

Combine and serve cold:
½ cup heavy sour cream
1 Tbsp. tarragon vinegar
¼ tsp. salt
⅛ tsp. pepper
2 Tbsp. grated horseradish, well drained
1 tsp. chopped chives

Since Rosie didn't tell me (I forgot to ask) what bread she uses with her menu, I got busy and in one of my cookbooks found this recipe.

IRISH SODA BREAD

4 cups sifted all-purpose flour
2 Tbsp. sugar
2 tsp. baking soda
1½ tsp. salt
¼ cup oleo
2-3 (two thirds) cup dried currants, plumped
½ cup white vinegar
1 cup milk

Mix flour, sugar, baking soda, and salt in a bowl. Cut in oleo till mixture resembles rice kernels. Add currants.

Mix vinegar and milk. Add half of liquid and blend; now add rest of liquid and stir just until blended.

Turn dough onto floured surface and knead 10 times. Shape into round loaf and bake at 375 degrees on greased baking sheet for 35-40 minuts. (I don't know why you couldn't leave out the currants if you wanted)

LIME PIE

Make a 9-inch graham cracker crust:

Mix together:
1 can Eagle Brand milk
½ tsp. vanilla
½ cup lime (or lemon juice)
2 egg yolks
4 Tbsp. sugar
Several drops of green food coloring.

Child's crayon streaks carpet

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY — I have a real problem. My three-year-old made three deep purple streaks on my carpet with a crayon. I now have them down to a pale lavendar and have tried everything I know. I would like to hear of some specific cleaning agent for wax crayon marks. I would be forever grateful. — MRS. A.F.K.

DEAR MRS. A.F.K. — There are a couple of things you might try that are recommended for use on wax crayon marks. Test on an inconspicuous corner first to see if there is any adverse color reaction, etc. Try sponging with alcohol or put one teaspoon white vinegar in a quart of warm water or use a nonflammable dry cleaning fluid. Since you have the color down to a pale shade a detergent solution might even remove that last color. Rinse any solution off well and dry carpet thoroughly. — POLLY.

DEAR POLLY — Something that really peeves me is that foods and other articles are marked with stamps that come off on everything they touch and are often almost impossible to wash off. I have to clean some off my counter most every day and it seems something less indelible would work for these stamps. — MRS. L.H.

DEAR POLLY — A.T. should consider herself lucky to have so many pressed flowers. When mine were completely dry I glued them to very heavy paper after arranging them in a natural manner with the leaves and long stems included. Next I added a mat of cardboard purchased at an art supply store and then put in a frame with glass. Mine is a mixture of flowers but I have seen this done with single plants and even their roots for a most effective result. — BARBARA F.

DEAR POLLY — A.T. who has so many pressed flowers could embroider a vase or pot on a heavy piece of linen-like material and then arrange her flowers on this. Glue them in place with that popular all-purpose white glue and spray with clear plastic or even hair spray and place in a frame with glass. — G.M.

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Nunn

Miss Hahn weds

CHARLESTON — Miss Alma Louise Hahn and Glen Allen Nunn were married Jan. 24 at St. Henry's Catholic Church. The Rev. Michael Swalina officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Moran Hahn Sr., of Charleston and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Nunn of East Prairie.

The bride wore a Victorian-style gown of beige and satin lace. She wore an old-fashioned cameo brooch and earring setting. Her three-tiered veil was made of beige netting and she carried a bouquet of yellow carnations and white baby's breath accented with yellow streamers. After the ceremony, a reception was held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Keen, aunt and uncle of the bride. Their home was decorated in blue and white.

Sandra Nunn of East Prairie, sister of the bridegroom attended the guest book. Servers were Sandra and Renissa Nunn of East Prairie, sisters of the bridegroom. Gregory Nunn of East Prairie, brother of the bridegroom, distributed rice bags.

Out-of-town guests were Delores Hale and Shawn of Lakeland, Fla., sister and nephew of the bride respectively, and Moran Hahn Jr., of Anaheim, Calif., brother of the bride.

The couple lives in East Prairie.

Radio stolen

A citizens band radio was stolen from a car parked in the Missouri Delta Community Hospital parking lot between 10:30 p.m. Wednewday and 8:30 a.m. Thursday.

Police said the car belongs to Don Chamberlain of Lilbourn, but was parked in the parking lot by his brother Charles, also of Lilbourn.

The car was unlocked when the theft occurred. The radio was valued at $215.

Students now lack good training in fundamentals

By RONALD REAGAN

"No one cant rite hardly anytime." That was the headline. The story left little doublt about this matter. If you think your youngster is the only one in school who uses sentence fragments, run-ons, poor spelling and misplaced punctuation, you may find some consolation in knowing that this problem is more than an individual one; it's national.

Ronald Reagan

In a recent survey of 436 colleges, the Association of Departments of English found that students are leaving high school with a much poorer training in fundamentals than before. The survey also showed that problems aren't exclusively those of students from lower-income families. Middle-class kids are apparently affected just as much.

Nearly half the entering freshmen at the University of California in Berkeley last fall had to take a remedial English course called "bonehead" tec- because they failed a qualifying grammar and essay test.

Most teachers seems to agree that the problem isn't a new one. It's always been there, but it's more intense and widespread than ever before and it's probably being diagnosed more energetically. Some teachers think too much television viewing is the main cause. It's probably true that young people aren't encouraged to read, either at school or at home. One educator summed up the importance of reading this way: "Students must read well to write well."

If you'll think back to your own high school days, you probably dreaded those endless grammar drills, plotting out subjects, predicates and objects; stuffing your head with rules and exceptions-to-rules until you could recel them off from memory. This was interspersed by singsong recitations of "Evangeline" or "The Rhyme of the Ancient Mariner," the purpose for which you never could divine. Well, it now appears that such rigorous drills, as part of compulsory courses and coupled with a well-planned and supervised reading program, are really the key to one's ability to write clearly.

During the 1960s the ferment in education didn't leave the English departments unscathed. In many states and communities compulsory English classes were reduced in number. More became "electives."

And, for many who did choose to take these courses, the choice was between such things as Creative Writing, Film Making, Mythology and Detective Story Writing. These may be perfectly legitimate subjects to study, but they should be offered after the student has a strong foundation of reading and grammatical writing--not before, or there may never be an "after." One has only to remember the standard, "Like..I mean..ya know, man" monosyllables of the youth of just a few seasons ago to see that the need for change is obvious.

One metropolitan curriculum director surveyed recently was concerned that students "don't zero in on a real, solid academic core." But, a representative of the Modern Language Association--an organization of college English teachers--sees some hopeful gains.

She observes that all over the country English professors are reporting that students are becoming goal-oriented again and that they're asking for English courses that focus on essential writing skills. As she puts it, there is a shift away from "the touch-feely stage, the love-everybody, and-good-writing-will-result" days.

Amen to that! Maybe the advocates of plain old "readin' and writin'" were correct after all. In another decade or so we may finally be truning out more students who can organize a sentence properly than cannot. And, with plenty of nudging from concerned parents and teachers, they may begin reading again, too.

Malden Public Works Board seeks rate hike

In a letter addressed to the mayor and City Council, read at the council meeting Monday night, the BPW asked permission to add a fuel adjustment to the customers' utility bills in the exact amount paid to Missouri Utilities.

The BPW is uncertain of the amount of increase, but estimated that the cost could range from $50,000 to $200,000. The letter stated that the BPW could not absorb this cost.

The letter also gave reference to the rate increase imposed in August 1974, but stated the rate increase only put the board on a break-even basis for the period from July 1974 through February 1975.

Councilman Bill Smithson led opposition to approval of an increase until the council could meet with the Board of Public Works to discuss the issue.

Smithson led his remarks with reference to unemployment in Malden Industrial Park. It was estimated that the present work force of Federal- Mogul has been reduced to 200, or one-third of total employment, and Bee Cee Manufacturing Co. is still closed, due to a strike.

With these conditions and the present high utility bills and family incomes, Smithson said he thought this was sufficient reason to hold the joint meeting.

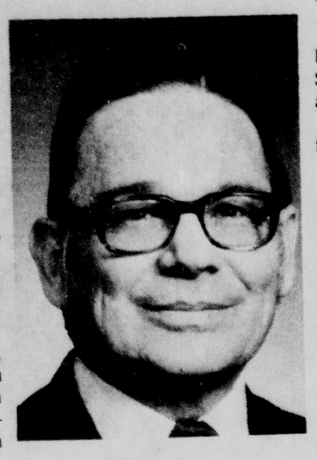
First Baptist to host revival

Spring revival services will begin Sunday and continue each night next week through Friday at First Baptist Church, 1101 N. Main St. Sunday's services will begin at 10:30 a.m. and 7 p.m., and all week night services will start at 7:30.

The revival speaker will be Dr. William E. Thorn, pastor of Metropolitan Baptist Church in Wichita, Kan., and the director of music will be Raymond W. Richerson of Jackson, Tenn., a full-time evangelistic singer and preacher.



Dr. William Thorn

A native of McAlester, Okla., the Rev. Dr. Thorn has been pastor of Metropolitan Baptist in Wichita since 1964. Other churches he has pastored have been First Baptist in Panhandle, Tx., for three and a half years, and Calvary Baptist in Lubbock, Tex., for 10 years.

He earned a bachelor of arts degree from Hardin-Simmons University at Abilene, Tex., and a bachelor of divinity degree at Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary at Fort Worth, Tex., then returned to Hardin-Simmons to complete a master of divinity degree. He also received a doctor of sacred theology degree at Southwest Baptist College in Bolivar.

In his undergraduate days at Hardin-Simmons he played varsity football and was a memmber of the student council and Who's Who is Colleges and Universities.

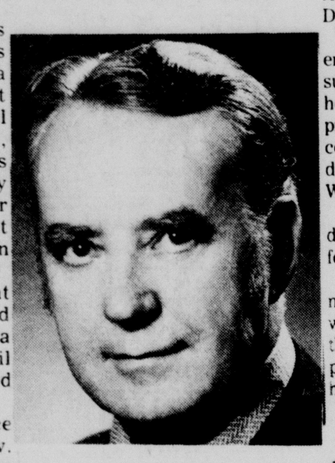
Among his activities since entering the ministry, the Rev. Dr. Thorn has served on the Foreign Mission Board of the Southern Baptist Convention, and has been president of the Kansas Convention of Southern Baptists, vice president of the Baptist General Convention of Texas, and member of the board of development at Hardin-Simmons University and board of curators of Redford School of Theology at Southwest Baptist College.

Nonclerical activities include membership in the Wichita Chamber of Commerce and Downtown Lions Club and service as chaplain of Lions International.

Married and the father of four daughters, he also has authored three books, "A Bit of Honey", "Wake Up, Make Up and Go" and "Famous for the Gospel".

Th Rev. Dr. Thorn and the Rev. Clyde Riddle, pastor of First Baptist, have worked together in several previous revival campaigns.

Richerson has more than 30 years experience as a revival preacher and singer, including 12 years as an associate minister and ministe of music. Since entering he evangelistic field, he has averaged more than 30 revivals a year for the last 15 years and, when not busy in revivals, serve churches as interim pastor and interim music director.



Raymond Richerson

For Richerson, the services at First Baptist will be a return engagement since he previously served as revival music director for the church in 1973.

A World War II Army veteran, he received his higher education at Union University in Jackson, Tnn., New Orleans Baptist Seminary and Southern Baptist Seminary in Louisville, Ky.

A recording artist for Wash Record Co. in Jackson, Richerson has a daily radio program and often appears on television and in sacred concerts. He was soloist for the pastor's conference of the Southern Baptist Convention in Atlantic City, N.J., in 1964.

A member of First Baptist Church in Jackson, where he was ordained, he is married and the father of five children. He also is active in the Civitan Club, having served as a past Valley district goernor in Tennessee and Kentucky.

Homecoming set at Little Vine

MATTHEWS — Annual all-day homecoming services Sunday also will mark the 88th anniversary of the March 13, 1887 founding of Little Vine General Baptist Church located on Route One.

Special events of the day will begin at 10 a.m. with Sunday School, which will be trying for an attendance goal of 400.

The 11 a.m. worship service will feature special music by Dan Atwood and Mrs. Betty Cates and the newly formed Little Vine musical ensemble. Also, primary and junior age children will participate in a "church on wheels" during this time, and the Rev. Robert Cates, pastor, will preach on th topic, "Our Homecoming with God".

At noon an adda dish fellowship lunch will be served, and at 1:30 p.m., the Joylanders Quartet will be featured in an afternoon singing program.

Clinic to cover wills and estates

A special one-night planning clinic will be held tonight at 7 o'clock in First Assembly of God Church, 306 S. Kingshighway, under the direction of the Rev. Glenn Rennick of the National Assemblies of God Stewardship Department office in Springfield.

The Rev. Mr. Rennick is engaged full-time in presenting such clinics all over the country, helping inform people how to properly prepare for the future concerning wills, estates, guardianships, etc., the Rev. Loren Wooten, pastor, stated.

Some common misunderstandings include the following:

1. "Only people with dependents need wills." Wrong! Even people with no dependents need wills if they have any property or possessions at all and want to have any say about who gets it.

2. "Only rich people need wills." wrong! Even if your possessions or property is modest, you need a will if you have anything at all that you want to leave to someone.

3. "When people die without a will, the law usually disposes of their property in about the same way they would have." Wrong! The law has to assume that every type of trickery is possible, and must be guarded against. This means your dearest relatives must run up against troublesome, tiresome, costly inconveniences, legal precautions and restrictions. Without a will, the state will determine how much goes to the family and how much to the state.

4. "Only older people need to make wills." Wrong! Every day unforeseen tragedies separate young families by death. The minimum age, in most states, for a will is 18.

New Madrid church plans revival series

NEW MADRID — The Rev. Robert Richardson, pastor of Grace Temple Baptist Church in Denton, Tex., will be the guest evangelist for revival services scheduled March 22- 28 at the New Madrid Baptist Church.

Richard Root, minister of music and youth at Immanuel Baptist Church in Lebanon, Tenn., will be the song leader for the services.

The Rev. Mr. Richardson received his education at Baylor University in Waco, Tex., and Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary at Fort Worth, Tex.

He has pastored churches in Texas and North Dakota and preached in 20 states.

Root, a native of Nashville, Tenn., majored in music at Belmont College in Nashville and served churches as part-time minister of music while attending school. Prior to his position at Lebanon, he had been full-time minister of music at First Baptist Church in Winchester, Tenn., and First Baptist Church in Martin, Tenn.

The services will begin at 7:30 each night.

Methodist 'happening' to feature Jim Bass

CAPE GIRARDEAU — The Reverend James D. "Jim" Bass, director of youth evangelism ministries of the Board of Discipleship of the United Methodist Church in Nashville, Tenn. will be featured at a "Methodist happening" in Cape Girardeau the weekend of March 22-23, 1975.

Sponsored by the Cape Girardeau-Farmington and Poplar Bluff-Sikeston districts, the happening will consist of a youth evangelism workship and special "Celebration of Our Faith", both led by the Rev. Mr. Bass.

All pastores, youth coordinators and United Methodist Youth Fellowship counselors, Sunday School teachers, youth councils and officers of local UMYF groups are requested to attend the March 22 workshop. The session will begin at 9:30 a.m. and continue until 5 p.m. Those attending should bring a sack lunch. Soft drinks and coffee will be provided.

On March 23, the Rev. Mr. Bass will deliver the sermon at Grace United Methodist Church at the 8:15 a.m. service. He will also preach at the 10:45 a.m. service at Centenary United Methodist Church. That night, a "Celebration of Our Faith" program will be held in the Central High School auditorium, located at Independence and Caruthers, at 6:30 p.m. The celebration will be led by the Rev. Mr. Bass and will feature the Saints and Sinners, a 25-member youth choir from New McKendree United Methodist Church in Jackson.

The Rev. Mr. Bass, a native of Tennessee, has appeared on national and local television programs, and has tourned eight foreign countries in this capacity as director of youth evangelism for the United Methodist Church.

He is married and is the father of two children.

Full gospel and PTL groups to meet together

The Sikeston chapter of Full Gospel Business Men's Fellowship International will host the New Madrid County Praise the Lord Fellowship for a joint meeting of the two organizations at 7:30 p.m. Saturday in the Heritage House, 305 Cresap Place.

The guest speaker will be Jack Long of Claremore, Okla., an ex-convict and one-time leader of organized crime in the Tulsa area before he became a Christian. He is now a successful businessman in Claremore and president of the Tulsa FGBMFI chapter.

The meeting is open to men and women of all denominations.

Revival to begin Monday at Lilbourn

LILBOURN — Revival services will begin Monday and continue through March 23 at First Baptist Church. Evening services will begin at 7:30 Monday through Saturday, and morning services will be conducted at 10:30 Tuesday through Friday.

The evangelist will be the Rev. H. Dale Jackson, pastor of Overland Baptist Church at St. Louis. The music wwill be directed by Jack Rose of Jackson.

Each service will begin with an old-fashioned song service and will include special music each evening. "The Spirit-Filled Life" will be the topic of the morning services, according to the Rev. Paul C. Tripp, pastor, who said nursery care will be provided for children 2 years old and under during each service.

Lad singers to appear

The Lad Family Singers, a part of Lad Ministries of Joplin, will appear in a two-night crusade tonight and Saturday at 7 o'clock in First Christian Church at East Prairie, according tot the Rev. H. Lee Erwin, pastor. The Lad Family Singers, along with the Gospel Lads, an all-male quartet, make up Lad Ministries. The Gospel Lads are employed by Revival Fires, an international non-denominational evangelistic ministry directed by Cecil Todd, and tour throughout the United States.

Duo to sing Sunday

The Wall Brothers, a musical duo from Sioux City, Iowa, will appear in concert at First Assembly of God Church, 306 S. Kingshighway, Sunday at 9:30 and 10:45 a.m. The brothers, Greg and Kraig, who formerly sang with the Chancellors Trio (they sang in Sikeston at a district council), are well known in the Midwest for their personal and television appearances. They have ministered in churches, youth rallies, statewide youth conventions and revival services from coast to coast, high school assemblies, civic functions and banquets. Their concerts consist of a variety of standard gospel music and new contemporary selections that has made them popular with audiences of all ages.

Pre-Easter revival slated

CHARLESTON — Pre-Easter revival services will begin March 23 and end Easter Sunday, March 30, at First General Baptist Church, 107 W. Ashby St.

The evangelist will be the Rev. Bud Culp of Wickcliffe, Ky., and special singing will be featured in each service. The evening services will begin at 7:30.

The Rev. Ted Aguilar

North Acres revival to open Sunday

Revival services will begin Sunday with services at 10:45 a.m. and 6 p.m. and continue nightly at 7:30 through March 22 at North Acres General Baptist Church, 202 Kennedy Drive.

The Rev. Ted Aguilar of Tulsa, Okla., will be the evangelist, and special singing will be featured in each service, according to the Rev. Lester Dale, pastor.

Ground breaking

EAST PRAIRIE — First Church of God will conduct a groundbreaking ceremony during the morning service Sunday for construction of a new sanctuary at an estimated cost of $125,000.

Dec. 1 has been set as the tentative completion date of the 500-seat facility. The building also will house 12 new Sunday School rooms, a nursery and choir room and will face Garfield Street.

Revival services planned at Miner

Dr. Weldon Marcum, pastor of First Baptist Church in Miami, Okla., will be the evangelist for revival services beginning Monday and continuing through March 23 at Miner Baptist Church, located at the intersection of Route H and Highway 62 East.

Ed Witham of Hamburg, Ark., will direct revival music.

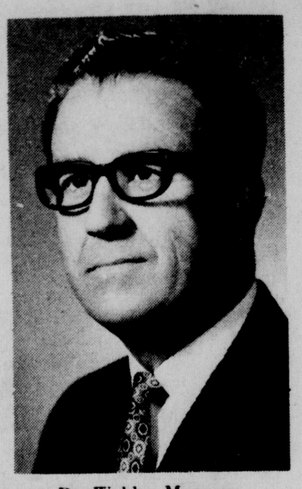
The Rev. Dr. Marcum and Miner's pastor, the Rev. Grady Etheridge, became acquainted while on an evangelistic tour of Nigeria, Africa, in November 1973.

The Rev. Dr. Marcum has worked in evangelism for the Foreign Missoin Board of the Southern Baptist Convention in India, Bangladesh, Korea, Hong Kong and Rhodesia, as well as Nigeria.

Witham, full-time music and education director for First Baptist Church in Hamburg, is a graduate of Southwest Baptist College in Bolivar. He formerly served as music director in Advance.

The Miner church will begin an attendance drive Sunday. the campaign theme is "Grow in Christ". Sunday School classes will strive for high attendance for four Sundays in a row. The goal is an average of 172. The Sunday School will seek to enlist 33 new members during the drive.

The schedule for the revvival will be:



Dr. Weldon Marcum

Tuesday -- Youth night.

Wednesday -- Adults promote attendance.

Thursday -- Family night.

Friday -- Fellowship supper at 6:30 p.m.

Saturday -- Junior night.

Sunday -- High attendance in Sunday School.

Morning services will be conducted at 10 a.m. Tuesday through Friday and evening services at 7:30 p.m. Monday through Sunday.

Special activities set

Today in U.S. history

By The Associated Press

Today is Tuesday, March 18, the 77th day of 1975. There are 288 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date—

In 1837, Grover Cleveland, who served as the 22nd and the 24th U.S. president, was born in Caldwell, N.J.

In 1902, in Milan, Italy, Enrico Caruso recorded ten opera arias for the Gramophone Company, becoming one of the first artists to recognize the phonograph as an acceptable medium for musicians.

In 1937, more than 400 persons, mostly children, were killed in a gas explosion in a school in New London, Texas.

In 1962, a cease-fire in the Algerian war was signed by French and Algerian rebel delegations in Evian-les-Baines, France.

In 1965, exiled King Farouk of Egypt died in Rome.

In 1970, Cambodian Prince Norodom Sihanouk was deposed as Cambodia's chief of state while on a visit to Moscow.

Ten years ago: A Soviet Air Force officer became the first man to leave an orbiting spacecraft and float in space.

Five years ago: Twenty persons were killed as mobs enforced a strike called by Marxists in India's state of West Bengal.

One year ago: Middle East oil-producing states, except Libya and Syria, ended their oil embargo against the United States.

In another accident involving a pickup truck Phillip Gayle Luttrell, 17, of Cape Girardeau, was injured seriously in a one-vehicle mishap at 3:45 p.m. on Highway 177 about three and a half mile north of Cape Girardeau.

He reportedly was driving at a high rate of speed when the truck went out of control and struck a guard rail and overturned twice.

Luttrell is in Southeast Hospital in Cape Girardeau.

The ice and snow on the roads early today resulted in an accident on Highway 21 in Glover, injuring a woman from Annapolis.

Donna Lee Robertson, 24, lost control of her southbound car and struck a bridge abutment at 8 a.m. and was taken to St. Mary's Hospital in Irontown for treatment of minor injuries.

struck Walker in the left side. Walker fell and dropped his pistol, but tried to get to it. Bernard kicked it out of the way and ordered someone to call the sheriff.

When he arrived, Dennis said Walker was lying wounded on the ground and the juvenile was belligerant. Dennis said both youths had been drinking.

Walker was taken to Southeast Missouri Hospital in Cape Girardeau, where he underwent surgery at 3 a.m. today and was reported in critical condition.

Dennis said charges against the two are pending and that the juvenile is being held in the county jail.

Bluejays honored

By SHIRLEY PRITCHETT
Mississippi County Correspondent

CHARLESTON — School and community spirit continued to ride high Wednesday as the 1975 AAA Basketball Champion Blue Jays were honored with a special appreciation rally, sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, was held in the high school auditorium.

Charles Brink, who served as master of ceremonies of the event, saluted the team on their accomplishments during the past season commenting "this team has accomplished what no other CHS basketball team has been able to do since the tournaments started in 1923." Brink also commented on athletics as a basic part of the educational system, providing something more than what you learn from books, including school spirit, the thrill of victory, tears of defeat and the challenge to reach out and touch something no one else has been able to achieve.

The Champion Blue Jays were introduced by Coach Haskins, who made personal comments on each member's ability and conduct, both on and off the court. In addition to the players, Haskins also recognized, with personal remarks, his managers for the season, Don McCann, Stevie Williams, Tracy Gillispie, and John Haas.

Individual awards of key chains, with silver basketballs, engraved with CHS AAA Champs 1975 were presented to players and managers by Haskins on behalf of the Chamber of Commerce.

Including his remarks, Haskins spoke with emotion at times on the success of the past season acknowledging the team as the "most coachable bunch of boys I've worked with in my eleven years of coaching."

Towering 6-foot-6 David Tropf (45) looks for a past during quarterfinal round play of the class A state tournament at Flat River Wednesday night. The Hornets top scorer had 14 points in half a half after scoring 31 against North Pemiscot Monday night. AHS faces undefeated Glasgow Friday afternoon in semifinal round play at Columbia.

Missou, Purdue tangle today

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Youth-laden Arizona cracked the ice Thursday in the National Commissioners Invitational tournament. Southern California buckled and sank.

"This was a great win for us," said Wildcat basketball coach Fred Snowden, after his club ended a 24-year absence from postseason play with a crunching 94-78 opening round victory over East Carolina.

Southern Cal, considered a co-favorite with Arizona, wallowed without standout playmaker Gus Williams and fell to upstart Drake, 80-70.

Elimination of the 13th-ranked Trojans was the major surprise of the day. USC had finished second to NCIT champion Indiana in last year's finals.

"It's unfortunate our season had to end this way, particularly for Gus," said a dejected Bob Boyd, coach of the Trojans.

Drake, hitting a sensational 21 of 28 shots in the second half, sealed Southern Cal's fate with a slowdown game that produced easy baskets in the final minutes. The Bulldogs entered the eight-team tourney with a 16-10 record, identical to Purdue's as the worst mark in the meet.

Keying the upset was Louisville product Larry Haralson, whose 20 points represented a high for him before the local fans. A crowd of 5,000 turned out.

"I feel very comfortable in this place," said the 6-foot-9 Haralson after stunning USC. "I looked up in the stands and saw a lot of old friends. It sort of revved me up." Drake broke away from a 59-59 deadlock behind key baskets by Haralson, Andy Graham and Terry McKissick.

Graham joined Haralson with 20 points and McKissick added 19.

"Obviously, it is one of the biggest wins of the year for us," said Drake Coach Bob Ortegel. "We didn't quit."

Purdue and Missouri, 18-8, tangle in Friday's first game. Tennessee, 18-7, and Bowling Green, 17-9, square off in the nightcap.

Arizona, now 21-6, rode the inside scoring of 6-foot-10 sophomore Bob Elliott and 6-foot-8 junior Al Fleming to outdistance East Carolina with a late breakaway.

Elliott poured in 28 points and Fleming added 22.

"The whole world is ahead for Elliott. He's so strong," praised losing coach Dave Patton. Herman Harris, the Wildcats super-sub, came off the bench to score 18 points.

Cardinals meet Bears in pre-season

ST. LOUIS — The St. Louis Football Cardinals and Chicago Bears will return to the University of Illinois campus for a National Football League preseason game on Saturday, August 23. The kickoff will be in Memorial Stadium at 1:30 p.m. (CDT). It will be the second successive year the rivals have met in Champaign. The first contest held last year resulted in a 10-7 victory for the Cardinals.

The St. Louis team, coached by Don Doryell, are coming off a 10-4 season and their first division championship since 1948. The Bears are optimistic of moving up the National Football Conference Central Division ladder under a new coach Jack Pardee.

The game will not be part of the Cardinals' season ticket package, but the tickets will be made available to fans of the Big Red, bears, and Illinois. The start of ticket sales will be announced shortly by the University of Illinois.

Hornets meet state champs

By BILL HARRISON

COLUMBIA — The Big Orange Machine moved the last big roadblock out of the highway between Advance and Columbia Wednesday night at Flat River by rushing past the Crocker Lions with ease 80-60 but the driver Carroll Cookson is headed for a headon collision with the state's number one class A basketball team and defending champion, Glasgow, Friday afternoon in the semi-finals.

Glasgow defeated Greenfield for the championship game in 1974 78-73 after Greenfield had beaten Advance 70-65 in the semi-final.

The Yellow Jackets will be after the new state record of 65 wins in succession at the Hornets expense in the 1:35 opener at Hearnes Multi-purpose Building on the campus of the University of Missouri. Bradlyville had 64 in a row previously.

Coach Royston's Yellow Jackets have been the state's top rated quintet from the season's beginning and have lived up to that standard with their undefeated record.

The Advance Hornets have been rated down as low as ninth but came up to sixth in the last state wide poll by the sportswriters and sportscasters before the regionals began.

Advance has had to battle uphill since the beginning of state tournament play as the Hornets had to take on fifth rated North Pemiscot Monday night in first round action and Crcoerk was the second rated team in the state.

The championship game may well be played Friday between Advance and Glasgow as the other two teams left, North East Nodaway and Mansfield were not rated in the poll. Glasgow defeated the third rated team, King City Wednesday night.

Advance got a good look at the Yellow Jackets in the state tournament last year but never had the opportunity to play the talented team as they came up in different brackets.

In the yellow Jackets the Hornets will be facing a similar type team as coach Royston has a running team with plenty of height. Glasgow likes to play a man to man defense with some zone. "We run a lot but are quite capable of playing a ball control type of game as well," said coach Royston.

The big scorer for the Yellow Jackets is Larry Butler who is a 6-4 forward and averaging 32 points a game. Butler scored 108 points in the final four games of the state tournament last year. He averages 10 rebounds a game. At the other forward position is 6-4 Fred Davis. He averages 10 rebounds a gamne. At the other forward position is 6-4 Fred Davis. He is averaging 14.5 points a game with 13 rebounds. At the center position will be Kenny Thies at 6-7. Kenney is averaging nine points a game with eight rebounds. The two guards are 5-10. David Holtwick is avveraging six points a game and Dan Parks is averaging seven points a game.

Coach Carroll Cookson has been chomping at the bit for a chance to get at the Yellow Jackets since the Hornets loss in the finals last year to Greenfield and Smithton. Advance had a young team and inexperience might have cost them the championship.

Coach Cookson will take a well balanced scoring attack into the showdown with no particular player being the man to stop as Glasgow has in Butler.

At the center position will be 6-6 David Tropf. David is a fine shooter from the baseline and a devastating rebounder. Coach Cookson uses a one guard system with his son Steve running the offense and bringing the ball up the court against the press defenses. The other guard is classified as a wing man and Ron Oller is the boy who holds down the position. Oller is capable of handling the ball and an outstanding shooter from outcourt. The other wingman is Joe David Cummins. Joe David is an excellent shooter from anywhere on the court and is capable of handling the ball to set up plays as well. Royce Yount is the other forward and at 6-2 has the capability of jumping with anyone 6-4 or 6-5. Royce gives the Hornets good rebounding on both the offensive and defensive boards. The sixth man on the team that coach Cookson likes to use is 6-2 Danny Long. Long gives the Hornets good defensive rebounding and is tough inside on offense as well. Other reserves that coach Cookson can call on are guard Ronnie Veale, who at 5-10 is a good ball handler and good shooter. Brad Berry is another good forward that the Hornets can count on for good defense and good shooting.

The Hornets are a fast moving, good shooting outfit that can play excellent defense as well and the team is capable of playing any type of offense or defense.

Unbeatens advance to state event

COLUMBIA, Mo. — Two teams which have survived the Missouri high school basketball season without a loss so far will put their unblemished records on the line Friday afternoon.

Glasgow, 31-0, is paired with Advance, 27-3, in the first game of the Class 1A semifinals at the Hearnes Fieldhouse at the University of Missouri. Northeast Nodaway, also 31-0, will face Mansfield, 26-5, in the second game.

In Class 4 A basketball, two Kansas City area teams face two from the St. Louis area Friday night in semifinal play. Raytown South, 23-2, meets McCluer, 18-9, and Raytown, 21-2, plays Sumner, 23-6.

The championship games will be played Saturday night, following two afternoon consolation contests.

Sports Corner

By Ron Jaynes

Charleston and Lilbourn reportedly are returning to the state tournament this weekend!

But, the Bluejays and Panthers aren't returning to play -- they're going back to Columbia to cheer the Advance Hornets to the class A state title.

This past weekend was a memorable one, perhaps the most memorable in the almost 10 years of sports writing for this scribe!

The reason was the joining of the LHS and CHS cheering squads and their fans during the weekend and cheering each other onto state titles.

To know that two teams who battles into overtime and then went into state tournament play and backed each other is something else. Normaly one local team likes to see the other lose, but not Lilbourn and Charleston, the fans of each team were behind the other 100 per cent.

Isn't it nice to be from Southeast Missouri, where the fans -- no matter who they have been for all season --- back their district team right down to the finish?

If we've learned anything during our sports writing career --- it's the Bootheel has the state's best fans ... And that's been evident for years, especially when you see players and coaches from many different teams in the district -- converging on Columbia and backing the Bootheel representative.

I'm proud to be a Bootheel "hillbilly!" Aren't you?

Good luck you Advance Hornets ... Let's show the city boys where the basketball is the best ... SOUTHEAST MISSOURI!

Manager not pleased with Card performance

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Manager Red Schoendienst, a man of few words, summed up his feelings about how the St. Louis Cardinals performed against the Chicago White Sox this way: "I didn't like anything today."

Cardinal batsmen managed only two hits off White Sox pitching Thursday, one by Lou Brock and one by rookie Joe Lindsey, as the Redbirds went down to a 5-0 defeat.

Pitching was not the Cardinals' strong point, either, as Lynn McGlothen gave up three runs on six hits and Mike Garmen yielded the last four of ten Chicago safeties.

"Greg Terlecky was the only pitcher who impressed me," said Schoendienst. Terlecky, a 22-year-old righthander, is making his fourth visit to St. Petersburg, twice as a member of the varsity and twice as a batting-practice pitcher.

He retired six Chicago hitters in a row Thursday--but he doesn't think that performance will be enough to keep him with the team.

"It would take a miracle or a big trade for me to make it," the 6-foot-3 Terlecky said. "I count nine pitchers as cinches to stay, with three having no options left.

NSM -- No stated minimum price. These properties are offered as-is in Period II only on a one-time basis with reserve and HUD retains the right to refuse any and all offers.

Properties not sold at Tuesday bid-openings are automatically deleted herefrom pending Period changes, price adjustments and other actions by HUD, and will be relisted in the earliest practicable Friday advertisement.

Bid openings will normally be held on Tuesdays unless a legal holiday falls thereon in which case bids will be opened the next day, Wednesday. Normal Monday deadlines will be changed to preceding Fridays when a legal holiday falls on Monday. Otherwise intervening holidays will have no effect on the ten-calendar-day offering periods.

As-is offerings are listed for sale "AS-IS" with no warranty, not eligible for FHA mortgage insurance, all cash. The provisions of paragraph 11 of the sales contract do not apply as to guarantee. These properties may or may not conform to code requirements. Selling brokers will orally inform purchasers of the foregoing prior to execution of sales contract. Prices are minimum acceptable subject to sealed bid procedure. Special provisions applicable to lead paint treatment will apply. $150 sales bonus applys to all as-is offerings. The right is reserved to hold as is offers for a maximum of ten days from date of bid opening. Bid requirements will conform generally with those set out in Forms HUD-9662 and 9662-A as modified by this notice and copies of said forms are available upon request.

Until further notice all section 235 financing is suspended. Properties designated as being available for 235 may be sold under Section 203 or with other non-assisted financing.

This listing represents an addendum to the monthly public information release entitled "HUD-Acrquired Properties available for Sale or Rent." and is subject to the terms and conditions set out there in. Copies of said P. I. R. are available on request.

Committee votes tax cut

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Finance Committee today approved a $2 billion reduction in individual income tax rates that would give every taxpayer a $40 saving in his 1975 taxes.

The committee added the provision to a $21.3 billion tax cut voted by the House and made other changes increasing the House-passed figure to $28 billion.

The bill gives a tax cut of up to $2,000 to anyone who buys a home from April through December of this year.

Committee members hoped to give the measure final approval by tonight.

The proposal to cut one percentage point from the first four tax brackets — those applying to the first $4,000 of taxable income on a joint return — was offered by Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Tex., as relief for middle and low income families whose tax bills, in effect, have been raised by inflation.

Today's action followed approval Thursday of other tax law changes designed mainly to help large families and home buyers.

The committee agreed to raise the House-approved tax break for business to $6.9 billion by increasing the investment tax credit to 12 per cent for the next two years, and allowing a permanent 10 per cent rate thereafter.

The credit now is 4 per cent for utilities and 7 per cent for other businesses.

Committee Chairman Russell B. Long estimates that all the tax cuts in the panel's final bill will total $31.5 billion, double the amount asked by Ford and $10 billion above the figure approved by the House.

Ford, in a surprise appearance at a labor-industry banquet Thursday night, said there is "an atmosphere of compromise now" in Washington and indicated he was willing to compromise on a tax cut bill with the Democratic-controlled Congress.

Long predicted his Finance Committee will finish writing the tax bill tonight. That would allow Senate debate to begin no later than Tuesday. This timetable would allow the Treasury to begin mailing tax-rebate checks out to every taxpayer by May 1.

The caucus of Senate Democrats agreed earlier Thursday that Congress will not start its Easter recess, now scheduled to begin March 21, until the tax cut bill is passed and sent to the White House.

The way for quick congressional action on the tax cut was cleared when:

—The Senate Democratic caucus agreed that oil-state senators should be allowed only two days to try to remove from the tax cut bill a repealer of the oil depletion allowance.

—The Senate postponed debate on an energy-conservation bill which threatened to delay action on the tax cut.

The Finance Committee voted to add these provisions to the $21.3-billion tax-cut package approved by the House:

—A 5 per cent tax credit, up to $2,000, for persons who buy a new or used house or mobile home as a principal residence between April 1, and Dec. 31, 1975. The cost: between $3 billion and $4 billion.

—Give each taxpayer the option of taking a $200-per-person tax credit instead of the present $750-per-person exemption. This would provide more benefits to families with two or more children that itemize deductions, and earn less than $20,000 a year. Under the proposal, a four-member family could deduct $800 from its tax bill instead of $3,000 from its taxable income.

The committee agreed tentatively to use this amendment by Sen. Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn., as a substitute for the increase in the standard deduction voted by the House.

Under present law, a family of four with $10,000 in income has an average tax bill of $905. The House action would cut that to $715, and if the Mondale amendment is approved, the figure would drop to $485.

Bolt cripples cypress

Missouri's largest tree may be dead or dying. This bald cypress on the Scott-Stoddard County line was struck by lightning during Tuesday night's thunderstorm when between 20 and 30 feet of its crown was blasted to the ground. The dwarfed figures examining the debris at the tree's base are Steven Alberson, left, of Bell City Route One, who reported the loss to the Missouri Department of Conservation, and Melvin Lancaster of Sikeston Route One. Alberson said he saw an orange glow as he passed a window in his house about midnight Tuesday and noticed the tree "going up like a chimney" when he looked more closely. The inside of the hollow tree was heavily damaged by fire that was still smouldering late Thursday.

Lightning blasts state's king tree

BELL CITY — Missouri's second oldest resident is apparently dead, felled by a stroke at the age of 550.

The department of Conservation said Wednesday that a bald Cypress at the Scott-Stoddard County line east of Bell City burned after being hit by lightning during a midnight storm Tuesday. The gnarled tree, with a 35-foot circumference, almost certainly will die, according to a spokesman for the Conservation Department. He said the tree was badly damaged and still smoldering Wednesday.

The tree was the second biggest cypress nationally to a tree in Tennessee, which measures 39 feet, eight inches in circumference.

"It's like losing an old friend," said John Wylie, assistant state forester with the department. "The only tree older in Missouri is an ash juniper on a bluff along Table Rock Lake."

"The cypress was a landmark you could see for miles. It had withstood the ravages of time. In 550 years, you get headaches. It had lost its crown twice either to wind or lightning and had lost many branches," Wylie said.

He said the tree was a remnant of the virgin forest that once existed all through Missouri's Bootheel.

"One old forester a half century ago counted the rings on a tree of similar size and the total was 500," Wylie said.

He estimated that the seed that started the cypress was born about the same time as Christopher Columbus.

There are other large cypress trees in the state, but none even closes to the age and size of the champion, Wylie said. He asked that anyone knowing of a champion sized cypress to succeed the old king to contact the state conservation office at Box 180, Jefferson City, Mo. 65101.

Robbery suspect wounded

BENTON — Jamie T. Walker, 18, of Benton was shot during an attempted robbery about 9:20 a.m. Thursday at the Scott County Highway Department barn, Sheriff John Dennis said today.

Walker and a male juvenile had stolen five batteries and were ready to leave, Dennis said, but were seen by Arthur Bernard, county conservation agent, who lives next door. The barn area is well lighted.

Bernard called Wayne Diamond, county highway superintendent, and asked him to approach the robbers in one direction while he would go in from another. Before Bernard left his home he tucked a pistol under his belt, Dennis said.

Bernard arrived about a minute ahead of Diamond and asked Walker and the boy what they were doing there.

Walker, standing with one side away from Bernard, whirled and pulled a pistol. Bernard drew his weapon about the same time and told Walker to drop the gun.

Walker pulled the hammer to his pistol back and said, "You drop yours."

Bernard then fired a shot that

Gas rates to rise next week

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Rates for natural gas service in southeast, west central and north central Missouri will rise next week as a result of a Missouri Public Service Commission decision.

In an order issued Thursday, the commission authorized a $252,000 increase for Arkansas-Missouri Power Co. and a $1.1 million boost for its subsidiary, Associated Natural Gas Co.

Pending the filing of schedules outlining what increases would be imposed on the various service areas of the company, the increases are expected to become effective March 22.

The Ark-Mo boost was sought to equalize rates with those of Associated Natural Gas. While the PSC said evidence showed the request should have been about 80 per cent higher to insure a "fair and reasonable" return for the company, it refused to grant a higher increase than what the company had requested.

The commission was overruled by a circuit court last year when it authorized a higher than originally requested rate increase for the Kansas City Power & Light Co.

The proposal by Associated Natural Gas, which had originally sought a $1.2 million increase, to apply the boost evenly to all customers was rejected by the PSC, which said differences in profit made by the utility in the three regions it serves would have to be considered.

Blackburn announces for council

Bill Blackburn

Blackburn is a home improvement salesman for Sears Roebuck & Co. He has lived in Sikeston, with his wife and two children, for seven years, and has taken an active interest in the civic affairs of the community.

He retired from the National Guard in 1974, as a first sergeant, after serving 26 years. He is a past president of the Sikeston camp of Gideons International, a former Cub Scout leader and is currently president of the Sikeston Optimist Club.

Blackburn and his family are members of First Church of the Nazarene, where he serves as a church bus driver.

Blackburn stated that he is interested in the working man's position in Sikeston and in seeing the city progress.

When elected, Blackburn said that his phone will always be open to citizens who have questions or suggestions concerning problems of the community.

Snow covers burglar tracks

CHARLESTON — Thursday night's snowfall apparently aided burglars who broke into Buckner-Ragsdale on south Main Street, covering their tracks and those of the vehicle used to carry off a large assortment of clothing.

Police Chief Bob Ritchey said the break-in was discovered about 8 a.m. today when the store was opened. A mesh wire covering a window at the rear of the building was cut to gain entry and the stolen articles were then apparently taken from the store through the back door, which opens into an alley.

Clothing reported missing this morning was 72 men's suits, 40 women's pantsuits, 40 sport coats, 14 pairs of men's Levi's, 64 bluejean shirts, and nine boys all-weather coats.

On the go, on the snow

Five inches of snow didn't spoil the day off from school for at least two Sikeston youngsters as they used the recess for the Southeast Missouri teacher's meeting to enjoy the winter weather. Pat Hunter Jr., left, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Hunter of 226 Tanner, and Peter Malone, son of Mr. and Mrs. James G. Malone of 1004 Allen, explored the whitened town early today.

Stoddard farmers told Japan wants soybeans

DEXTER — Approximately 200 Stoddard County farmers and bankers attended the second meeting of the newly organized United Farmers Organization Thursday nigt at Dexter High School auditorium.

Three additional members were elected to the advisory Board, including Fred Tanner and Larry Riley of Bernie, and Bill Smith of Puxico.

Guest speaker for the evening was Wayne French of Advance, who recently completed a tour of Japan and Taiwan with the Missouri Soybean Association.

"It's a different world in those countries," French told the farmers. "A farm there is approximately two and a half acres and they cultivate rice with water buffalo, usually harvesting three crops a year. However," he continued, "in Taiwan, I saw hogs being raised equal to any in our country. They are not as backward as we are led to believe. They want our soybeans and will buy as long as they have dollars," he said.

"Japanese would like to live like Americans and their greatest hope is to eat like we do. The question most asked in Japan," he said, was "can we buy United States soybeans?

"Farmers have been told to expect erratic weather conditions during the next few years," he continued, "which could mean poor growing seasons. The consumer, however, is not going to look at the weather pattern and the consumer has more votes than the farmer.

"We must cut our production," he siad, "but we will have problems even with a 20 per cent reduction. Most of us will put our best land into production as Secretary of Agriculture Earl Butz has stated we will, but we must keep production down. If we can just meet the nation's and world's supply we will be in good shape. However, if we underproduce, we can hurt our market."

"A union worker in this country invests about $3.98 for a lunch bucket and gets a return on his investment from $15,000 to $20,000 per year," Joe Vinson of Sikeston, told the farmers. "Why shouldn't the farmer expect the same return on his investment. The consumers of this country want cheap bread on the union table. The farmers share of a loaf of bread is approximately four cents and you know what the price of a loaf of bread is. We are not the reason for the increase in food prices."

"If we gave our products away," Everett Craig of Essex, told the group, "this would still not bring prices down. We must convince the consumer farmers are not making money."

The next meeting will be held at the Bernie High School. A definite date will be announced later.

A joint meeting of the Southeast Missouri and Southern Illinois United Farmers groups is being planned for the near future and will be held at Cape Girardeau.

9 hurt in SeMo accidents

Eight person were injured in three separate accidents in the Southeast Missouri area Thursday and one woman was injured early today, according to the highway patrol.

On Interstate 55, three miles north of Hayti, a tractor-trailer truck treaveling south collided with a quarter ton United States Army jeep, injuring the truck driver and three men in the jeep.

George Dozier, 32, of Indianapolis, Ind., drove his truck into the back of the southbound jeep driven by Jimmy Wright, 22, of Salem, Ky. Passengers in the jeep were L. T. Brown, 37, Eddyville, Ky., and Ronald Garrett, 28, of Carmi, Ill.

The patrol said Dozier apparently came up behind the jeep too fast and ran into the back of the vehicle.

All four men received minor injuries and were taken to Pemiscot County Memorial Hospital in Hayti.

Three persons from Arcadia received minor injuries in a one-vehicle accident at 3:50 p.m. on Highway 72, three miles west of Fredericktown.

The driver and Tammy Jean Macguffee, 14 and Terry Joe Macguffee, 10, also of Arcadia, passengers in the truck, were

Court orders corrected plat of Mini-Farms

BENTON — The Scott County Court Thursday ordered that a corrected ownership plat of the Mini-Farms Subdivision north of the Sikeston city limits be prepared and submitted to the court by May 1.

National Mortgage Co., original owner of all the property, will pay the cost of preparing a corrected plat.

The order stated that the plat "shall be of such a nature as to permit said property and individual tracts located therein to be assessed ... by appropriate block and lot or tract numbers."

The order provided that blocks shall consist of 40-acre square tracts of land and that the work

Schuchart seeks council seat

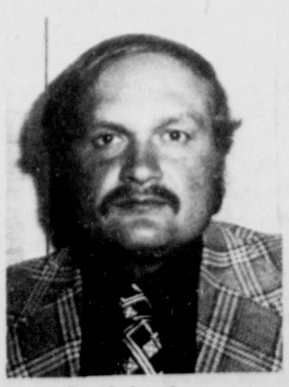
Schuchart is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Emil J. Schuchart Sr. and a life-long resident of Sikeston.

He attended University of Missouri - Columbia, where he received a bachelor's degree in business administration in 1971. He then returned to Sikeston and is now occupied as a farmer.

Long concerned with the future growth and prosperity of Sikeston, 26-year-old Schuchart believes he has a solid background in business and property management that should be valuable in filling the position he seeks. As a licensed real estate broker and business major, he is primarily concerned with the regulation of property zoning and the city's current tax structure.



Joe Schuchart

When asked to describe his potential contribution to Sikeston city government, Schuchart said, "I know and like the people of Sikeston, and I hope to be able to help them make this a healthy, growing town. I'd like to use my time and efforts to accomplish the goals of the people I'd be elected to represent."

ECONOMICAL COMPROMISE

It will be years, possibly a decade, before the government's antitrust suit against the communications giant, American Telephone and Telegraph (AT&T), is settled. One estimate is that the legal costs alone could come to $70 million.

The time, effort and money that will be required of both AT&T and the Justice Department might better be spent elsewhere, says Business Week in an editorial.

Perhaps most important of all, it says, long drawn-out litigation could impair the company's ability to raise the immense amount of capital it needs to keep pace with growing demand. One immediate result of the government's action was AT&T's cancellation of $600-million financing program.

The magazine recommends that both sides consider the possibility of a compromise. Both the U.S. economy and AT&T security holders would benefit, it says, by an agreement separating Western Electric, the Bell manufacturing facility, from the operating companies.

"Such a separatoin of unregulated business from regulated operations has worked in the electric and gas utilities, where it was decreed years ago by the Utility Holding Company Act," the editorial points out.

"The regulated companies as well as the unregulated segment — the industries that supply generating and transmission equipment and the makers of consumer electrical appliances — have all prospered."

As for the argument that cutting Western Electric off from AT&T might slow technological progress, "times have changed," says Business Week. "There are plenty of companies now capable of making high-quality communications equipment."

AT&T, it says, might well find that more competition from the supply side would be good for it.

This year, as every worker knows, the Social Security tax bite has gone up again -- to a maximum of $825 on the first $14,100 of wages or salary. This is in addition to the federal income tax.

It's reached the point, says the Tax Foundation, Inc., where this matter of being hit twice on the same income is beginning to involve a sizable sum of money.

Consider a married man with two children who will earn exactly $14,100 this year.

If his federal income tax were figured on the amount left after his $825 Social Security tax had been withheld, he would pay $154 less in income tax.

On the other way, if his Social Security tax were based on the income remaining after the federal income tax was withheld, that would be $93 less.

The federal government, of course, doesn't see it that way in applying both taxes to the same income. It has always taxed as "income" the employe's share of the Social Security tax.

Most state and local governments extend the tax-on-tax process a step further by not allowing the deductibility of either federal income or Social Security taxes when figuring income.

There's one bright spot. The employer's matching Social Security contribution is not considered as part of a worker's income. Thus nobody -- so far -- has slapped a tax on it.

If everyone were practical all of the time, many things that have been done would never have been tried. Would Charles Lindbergh even have attempted his solo trip across the Atlantic in The Spirit of St. Louis if he hadn't believed in something that the average person at the time would have said was impossible? But Lindbergh landed in Paris, and the world was never the same again. Americans, inspired by that historic flight, were asked just 14 years later to man the greatest air armada the world has ever seen, the U.S. Air Force of World War II. The "impossible" age of the atom and space came next in fast succession, and the world moves on.

A job calls forth initiative and bolsters self-respect. A handout diminishes both. The person who invests in an enterprise that provides jobs performs a humanitarian act. To the Biblical counsel that it is more blessed to give than to receive, therefore, might be added the advice that it is more blessed to invest than to give."

Food Stamps Abused

Nothing makes the hard-working taxpayer hotter under the collar than to stand in the checkout line of a local grocery and see some well-dressed shopper haul out stamps to take home some exotic delectable that he can not afford. More often than not, this same food stamper hauls himself into a right fair looking automobile and sets sail down the boulevard.

To our overburdened taxpayer we offer the following editorial from the Nevada Daly Mail:

Among the many federal programs that are completely out of control, none, it seems to us, has been so rankly abused as food stamps. Without belitting or criticizing those who are legitimately entitled to use them, it seems to us that every other person in the check-out line at our grocery store pays off with food stamps.

It really isn't that bad, of course, but it's bad enough: 13 million Americans use them, and it is estimated that in another two years as many as 60 million-one out of every four Americans-will be receiving food stamps at the expense of the other three.

In one of his recent broadcasts, Ronald Reagan recalled that when he was governor of California he received a telephone call from an irate father in another state. Why, demanded the father who earns $100,000 a year, why was California providing his son with food stamps while the young man was attending college there? Reagan had to explain that under present federal regulations a full-time student living away from home could qualify for food stamps at the taxpayers expense even if his father earned a million dollars a year.

Nor was that all. Reagan knew of 14-year-old runaways who lived in communes on food stamps. Even strikers are eligible, which, Reagan said, takes the government out of its traditional role in being neutral inlabor disputes and puts it in the position of subsidizing strikes.

A few monghs ago, a college teacher in Salina, Kan., whose salary was inexcess of $10,000 a year, was reporting using food stamps to feed himself, his wife and their four children.

Similar abuses must be common everywhere.

It's all a long way from the original intent of the food stamp program. Started in 1964, it was intended to be a plan for distributing agricultural surpluses to the needy. Initially, there were only some 400,000 recipients.

Now, even though there are no longer any agricultural surpluses-in fact, the oposite is true- the number of food stamp recipients has increased by 3,150 per cent in a decade.

Considering today's broad scale of food stamp distribution, President Ford is clearly justified in suggesting that the cost of the stamps to the recipients should be increased-a proposal that has been granted with a abhorrence by many congressmen.

Oddly, we've seen no evidence that anyone in a position of power-save, possibly, Reagan- is demanding that the food stamp Program be confined to its original purpose: Helping those who are genuinely unable to help themselves.

There is no logical reason to expect taxpayers to suport college students, teenage runaways or improvident college professors.

Rather than increasing the cost of food stamps to those who actually need them for their existence, economies should be made by removing the underserving from the food stamp rolls.

Further, as Reagan suggests, this welfare program (for what it is) should be removed from the Department of Agriculture, where it absorbs a third of the department's budget, to the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, where it belongs.

Legislative Costs

To stop the excessive self-serving spending by Missouri legislators, Gov. Christopher S. Bond owes it to the citizens of this state to veto a substantial amount of tax dollars appropriated for the legislature.

The General Assembly even added $475,000 to the emergency appropriation bill for its own use. This includes $237,000 for the 34-member Senate and $238,000 for the 163-member House.

Sen. William Cason of Clinton, the Senate president pro tem and a candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, last May challenged Gov. Christopher S. Bond to hold down administrative expenses in the executive branch as sharply as he intended to do in the Senate.

"We do not plan to ask for any increase at all in the appropriations to operate the Senate next year-not one penny more," Cason vowed.

At the time of Cason's speech, $1,235,322 was appropriated for the Senate contingency fund for the current year. But the Senate has proposed $1,754,069 for its contingency fund for next year, an increase of $518,747 or $15,257 per senator. That seems a bit more than "one penny."

Records also show that Cason's secretary receives $14,400 a year while Bond's secretary receives $11,340 a year. The House Speaker-s secretary is paid $7,560 a year.

In addition to the 197 legislators, records show that the General Assembly is employng 42 full time employes.

Last Year Bond vetoed $1.1 million of a $7.4 million appropriation for the legislature on the grounds that it was excessive. Even though the legislature will meet only four months next year instead of the 5½ month session this year the budget calls for spending $7.2 million.

Approval of the additional emergency funds would push legislative spending for the current fiscal year to about $7.2 million, about $1 milion more than its original appropriation.

The legislature screams loudly when state agencies overspend their appropriations. But members of the legislature didn't even debate the extra $475,000 it slipped into the emergency appropriation bill for themselves.

Not to be outdone by the Senate, the House has spent $15,800 in tax dollars to create a plush private restroom, complete with a lounge, carpeting and a speaker system that allows members to follow the action on the House floor.

The plush restroom was constructed even though thre is a large public restroom less than 15 feet from the entrance to the House chamber. (Jefferson City News Tribune.)

Independent Business Optimistic in Small Towns

Evidently independent business people do not seem to place much credence in economists, or politicians for that matter.

Although professional economists both in and out of government, as well as some government leaders continue to issue gloomy forecasts over the future of the nation's business health, the independent business community is not sharing their views.

In fact,they are moreoptimistic over the business conditons during the next six months than they have been at any time since April 1974.

Data tgathered from a selective sample of the NFIB membership in January shows that 31.1 per cent of the respondents expected improved business conditions in the next six months as against 19 per cent who felt that way in October, 22. per cent who looked to better times last July and slightly higher than the flat 31 per cent who looked for better times last April.

On the pessimistic side only 2.1 per cent expect conditions to get worse. This is the smallest percentage of dyed-in-the-wool pessimists registered in the past 18 months. In October, 7 per cent looked for the wrost to happen.

This surge of optimism is registered in all fields, but is expecially pronounced among independent retailers. Of the resondents in this category, 30 per cent see better times ahead, or almost double the number who felt that way in October.

Perhaps part of this new found independent retailer optimism is due to the widely publicized declines of many of the nation's big corporate discount chains plus the troubles being encountered by other corporate entities. This condition evidently channels a greater hare of consumer trade to independent outlets.

As perhaps to be expected when optimism increases among independent retailers this is also reflected among independent wholesalers with 38 per cent of these respondents win January expecting better times ahead compared to 21 per cent who were in that mood in October.

Even independent builders are more optimistic, with 32.3 per cent looking for better times as compared to 23 per cent who felt that way in October.

The only pessimistic cloud at present is among some agriculturally-oriented businesses where only 21.1 per cent see better times ahead as compared to 22 per cent in October.

Any analysis of the NFIB surveys has to take into consideration that approximately 70 per cent of the respondents are located in non-metropolitan areas and thus the majority do not reflect the experiences of the huge cities.

So this survey shows why Sikeston among the smaller Missouri cities is still a "pocket of prosperity" in comparision to the bust-and-boom of the big cities.

JACK ANDERSON SAYS: Feds Break Laws To Nail Crooked Nares

By JACK ANDERSON with Les Whitten

WASHINGTON — In their zeal to nail crooked narcotics agents, federal inspectors have used Watergate-style tactics, which have violated the laws they sought to enforce.

One detective, accused of taking a bribe in a dubious case, was told he had three choices: He could cooperate with the inspectors, take his chances on a prison term or commit suicide. He shot himself to death after pleading his innocence in a suicide note.

We have uncovered several elaborate hoaxes, which were developed by the inspectors to entrap agents. Sometimes, the inspectors actually instigated crimes to determine whether suspected lawmen would take bribes.

The overzealous inspectors used bugged informants, phony identification papers and other tactics reminiscent of the notorious White House plumbers.

The questionable cases seem to center upon Andy Tartaglino, the soft-spoken, bespectacled former No 2 man at the Drug Enforcement Administration. It was Tartaglino, for example, who made the fatal suicide suggestion.

His supporters describe him as a "brilliant and innovative" investigator. But we have learned that his tactics have forced the government to drop the prosecution of at least half a dozen cases.

In one case, a narcotics agent was provided with a phony identity and two loaded pistols. He was purposely arrested on a firearms charge. Then he bribed a New York assistant district attorney to help him beat the rap.

Judge Henry Friendly threw out the case on jurisdictional grounds. But he also scolded Tartaglino and the prosecutors for attempting "to set up a federal crime."

Declared the judge: "We do not at all share the government's price in its achievement of causing the bribery of a state district attorney by a scheme which involved lying to New York police officers and perjury before New York judges and grand jurors."

The court records in another case charge that an underworld informant, working with Tartaglino, "violated the federal narcotics laws without being arrested for the violation and was arrested for other criminal acts but not prosecuted."

The informant was used to get evidence against two narcotics agents. Tartyaglino's conduct of the investigation, according to our sources, led to a suspended sentence for one of the defendants.

The mild-mannered Tartaglino, while acknowledging his role in these investigations, told us the prosecutors made the decision to go ahead.

We sent our associate Bob Owens to New York City to check out the suicide case, which involved a New York police detective named Joe Nunziata. Ironically, Nunziata wasn't the target of the investigation. Tartaglino merely wanted to bring pressure on him to cooperate.

At government expense, Tartaglino flew a former informant, Carlo Dandolo, to the United States from Italy. Dandalo was given 12 grams of rare, pure heroin belonging to the government. By a complex set of circumstances, he was arrested and wound up in the custody of Nunziata and his partner.

Tartaglino instructed Dandolo to attempt to bribe the officers. The first attempt, say our sources, was rejected. But subsequently, they accepted the bribe. They were playing along with Dandolo, they claimed, in order to make a case against him.

But Tartaglino, according to our sources, brought intense pressure on Nunziata to cooperate with the investigation. Our sources said Tartaglino told Nunziata his police career was finished, winding up with the three options. Nunziata could cooperate, face jail or commit suicide. He sat down and wrote a three-page letter in longhand.

"I dedicated my life to my job," he wrote. "I've also ignored my family to a point of disgust on my part ... I have two children whom I love and a wife I adore."

The charge that he had accepted a bribe from Carlo Dandolo, he declared, was an "insult."

"Now, though, I know it was all a hoax on (the government's) part, to make it appear as if we accepted a gratuity from C.D. That, my friends, is an insult so severe that I will not allow this embarrassment to affect this job or anyone I've ever been associated with."

They had fed Dandolo a line, Nunziata said, in order to nail him. "Any conversation that was had with C.D. was total lies. ... I hate to disappoint anyone, but it was all lies. I must've really been convincing, that would only prove how effective I was in my job."

Nunziata said he "had been driven to this pointof no return. Nothing was done, was done with criminal intent." Then he killed himself.

Footnote: Tartaglino confirmed that he had raised the suicide option, but said the version given by our sources was "out of context." Another witness, who heard Tartaglino's diatribe against Nunziata, told us: "In view of what happened, it sounds more sinister than what the facts would support." But other sources said Tartaglino's handling of Nunziata was severe.

Inside Labor

NEW YORK--Last Saturday night some 900 labor people gathered in the banquet hall of Chicago's Pick-Congress Hotel to cheer and praise a departing comrade. To all but insiders the testimonial dinner was just another traditional ritual for a retiring labor official. It was virtually unnoticed and unreported. But to informed observers the bread-breaking was a significant reflection of a dangerous naivete on the part of some powerful men.

The dinner was thrown for someone called Ernest DeMaio. He was retiring as an official of the historically left- United Electrical Workers. He now is going on to "greater" things--such as becoming the representative in the United Nations of the Soviet-controlled World Federation of Trade Unions (WFTU).

First, as we say on the tube, a word about this WFTU. It is a Moscow-run network of Communist unions operating out of occupied Prague, Czechoslovakia. It claims some 160 million members. Of course, most of them are in the Soviet Union. It is the avowed enemy of the United States in general and capitalism and American enterprise in particular.

This WFTU has a headquarters here run by Soviet-oriented officers. They take their orders from the central headquarters in Prague--which takes its line from the Soviet Communist party's Central Committee in Moscow. This authority is concentrated in the All-Union Central Committee of Trade Unions of the USSR. This is what passes for a Russian labor movement.

Its chairman is 56-year-od Aleksandr Nikolaevich Shelepin. He's tough. He's a former all-Soviet Union spy master. He has made some of the toughest anti-American speeches since the late Joseph Stalin. It was Shelepin who was dispatched to Cairo some years ago to whip up Egypt and other Arab nations into a frenzy against the U.S. and israil.

In intelligence circles Shelepin is conpidred a "brut." The record is clear. In 1958 he was named chief of the Soviet state security forces known as the KGB. It's a killer espionage and counter-intelligence force. Its record is clear too. So much so, it needs only one line in passing.

Shelepin came to the KGB fully qualfied. In 1962 he was appointed chief of the inner Communist Party State Control Committee. This is the intra-party purge and police unit.

He is anti-cultural. He is death to all religions. He is, thus, whether you look at his record on art or the brutalizing of Boris Pasternak, the perfect Stalinist prototype (though on orders from the late Nikita Khrushchev he purged the Stalinist-Beria secret police).

For the pain he inflicted on others he was made a member of the Soviet inner circle--the Communist party's (USSR) Politburo. He is one of a handful of men who run the Soviet Union. As chairman of the so-called labor movement, his specialty now is world labor.

As chairman of the Soviet "Unions," Shelepin is scheduled to lead a Russian labor delegation to Britian next month. There's an outcry against permitting him into the United Kingdom. Home Secretary Roy Jenkins has been besieged by those demanding Shelepin be denied a visa--because among those he has purged and fought are trade unionists.

This, then, is the man who dominates the WFTU. Its headquarters here, which has observer status at the UN, has run interference for the Palestine Liberation Organization which now is attempting to destroy peace negotiations in the Middle East.

The WFTU lobbies against the U.S. It attempts to turn third-world nations against us. It is a reflection of the Soviets' hardest lines. Which is natural. Shelepin is a hard-liner. Detente is not in his glossary.

Thus when Ernest DeMaio represents the WFTU in the UN official observer ranks, he will talk for an organization which has flayed the U.S. from Hanoi to Pyongyang to the East Side glass tower here.

Yet when it was announced that DeMaio would leave Chicago, and there would be a testimonial to him, many Amerian labor people broke with the official AFL-CIO policy and sponsored the banquet.

Among these were the Amalgamated Meat Cutters secretary-treasurer Pat Gorman; its vice president Charles Hayes; some United Auto Workers leaders including, surprisingly enough, vice president Pat Greathouse.

Also Ed Sadlowski, director of the United Steelworkers' biggest section, District 31 (who wants very much to succeed incumbent national president I.W. Abel when the latter retires in a few years).

Of course, there was the West Coast longshoremen's union president Harry Bridges. With his pro-Communist background we can unerstand this. But why the others? Why Detroit's Mayor Coleman Young?

After all, detente may, to some, mean cooling it and doing some business--but why do business with those who do business with Shelepin's favorite project?

Employees of more than 700 different businesses and agencies in the St. Louis area are enrolled in the University of Missouri - St. Louis Evening College.

2 attempts to change state election laws fail

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — House Speaker Richard Rabbitt ruled as out of order Thursday attempts to tack amendments onto a bill revising paper ballots which would have changed primary election dates and dropped party preference declarations.

Minority Floor Leader Robert Snyder sought to amend the bill eliminating the requirement to rotate candidate names on paper ballots by adding a provision changing primary elections from August to September.

In addition, Rep. Irene Treppler, R-St. Louis, tried to add another amendment ending the requirement that voters declare their party preference in election primaries.

But Rabbitt ruled them both out of order, saying they had nothing to do with the subject of ths bill under considerattion.

Little objection was raised to Snyder's motion being overruled, but Republicans, joined by St. Louis Democrat Steve Vossmeyer, objected to the ruling that Rep. Treppler's motion was out of order.

In a nearly strict party line vote, the House sustained the ruling of the speaker 85-38.

"I think if we could ever get it to a vote, it would pass," Rep. Treppler said after the ruling. Separate bills have been introduced this session whcih would accomplish the goals of both defeated amendments.

The original bill abolishing rotation of names on ballots was tentatively approved, and its sponsor, Rep. Gerold Drake, D-Grant City, said the bill could save up to $40,000 in a statewide election.

The measure still faces final approval in the Senate, where bills to revise the criminal code and require all new curbs and gutters to be built with ramps for the handicapped were amended.

The criminal code revision bill, designed to rewrite the state's 140-year-old criminal code by restructuring penalty procedures and replacing outmoded language, was amended to include an effective date of October 1977 rather than January 1976.

It also was amended to require sheriffs to issue gun permits to qualified applicants within three days of application, while allowing the sheriffs to take fingerprints of applicants.

The bill requiring ramps on new curbs and gutters for the handicapped was set aside for later study, as was the criminal code.

Board accepts resignation

SCOTT CITY — Lucian Richards has submitted his resignation as a teacher in the Illmo- Scott City school system, effective at the end of the current school year. The school board accepted the resignation.

Mrs. Marilyn Kingree, a first grade teacher, was granted a one-year leave of absence by the school board. Mrs. Gloria Eastman, who also teaches in the district, will fill Mrs. Kingree's position.

All nontenure teachers have been rehired for the 1975-76 school year. Tenure teachers have until May 1 to decide if they wish to continue teaching in the district.

Nonetenure teachers are those who have taught five years or less in the district. Any teacher rehired for the sixth year is given tenure.

Mrs. Geri Zimmerman was rehired as school nurse.

Supt. J. A. Holmes announced that the roof furnace for the addition to the high school is to be shipped and installed soon. When this is done, he said that heat can be applied to completely dry out the building. Floor tile can then be laid and the rest of the painting can be completed.

Cooper to be moved back to Dunklin jail

KENNETT — Frank Junior Cooper, 24, formerly of the Kennett-Bragg City area, reportedly will not be returned to Dunklin County to face first-degree murder charges until the new jail is completed.

Cooper is presently serving a prison term in the Missouri State Penitentiary after being sentenced on Feb. 26 in Jackson County on robbery and burglary charges. Cooper was scheduled to be returned to Dunklin County immediately after the sentencing to face the murder charge stemming from the shooting death of his Kansas City companion whose body was found outside Kennett on a ditch bank four days after the murder.

It has been learned, however, that because Jackson County authorities failed to notify Dunklin County Pros. Atty. Charles H. Baker to prepare the necessary papers for his return, Cooper was transferred on to Jefferson City where he has begun serving the sentence.

Baker said that since Cooper was in custody at this time he would not instigate proceedings for his return to Dunklin County until the new jail is completed, for security reasons.

Inspection tests to be required

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP)—Liquid propane gas installation inspection tests will be required beginning Saturday on every mobile home initially set or reset after being moved to a new location, according to the state Division of Weights and Measures.

The Liquified Gas Inspection Authroity is requiring the inspection tests to insure safety in all mobile homes, whose residents make up "one of the largest consumers of home heating gas in the state of Missouri."

Installation requirements are those of the American Standards Institute with the responsibility for obtaining the inspection resting with the mobile home owner.

No LPG installation should be made without the proper inspection, the division said.

What's the law?

The case of the ducky hunters

The Case of the Ducky Hunters
By JACK STRAUSS, LL.B.

Ike and Mike weren't much for protocol. Consequently, when they decided to go duck hunting on Mr. Hoople's property, they sought neither his permission nor his consent. They simply set up their duck blind and floated several decoys. And while their decoys didn't fool any ducks, they apparently did fool Mr. Hoople who had also decided it was a ducky day to go duck hunting.

Seeing the decoys, Mr. Hoople fired two shots at them with .22 rifle intending to scare them in the air. Instead, he winged Ike in the arm and shot Mike in the leg. And, in due course, his would-be trophies sued him for their injuries.

"What do they want from me," protested Mr. Hoople in court. "I didn't shoot them on purpose. I was after ducks, not trespassers. I didn't even know they were there."

"While he may not have shot us purposely," was the answer, "he shot us carelessly. He not only failed to distinguish the decoys from the real thing, he was hunting water fowl with a .22 rifle which is against the law. No matter how you slice it, the guy boobed it."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you hold Mr. Hoople liable for bagging Ike and Mike?

This is how the judge ruled: NO! The judge held that a trespasser takes the premises as he finds it. The only obligation owned by a property owner to a tespasser is not to injure him willfully or intentionally. And, in this case, noted the judge, neither Ike nor Mike were intentionally nor willfully injured since, in the exercise of reasonable care, Mr. Hoople did not know they were on his property.

As for Mr. Hoople's use of a .22 rifle contrary to law, concluded the judge, it has no bearing on the case since the law was intended to protect migratory water fowl and not those who seek to kill them.

today's woman

At Wit's End

By Erma Bombeck

About the only comfort I can see in getting sick is that you immediately become the focus of attention and concern.

I have friends who, when they become ill, receive 40 pounds of Indian jewelry from their husbands, a pot of mums from the gang in the office and casseroles and baked goods from well-meaning neighbors.

No matter what disease decks me, there is always "a lot of it going around."

I could be suffering from a dinosaur bite and my doctor would say, "Everyone in town's got it. Just go to bed, take a lot of liquids, and call me if the leg falls off."

On a scale of ten these days, sympathy for the common cold is running about a two, compassion for flu, a two and a half; and concern for pneumonia, a declining four.

I expect any day to have a phone number for Dial-A-Cure where all the people with aching bodies, raging fevers and nausea dial for assistance, or when possible go to a group meeting at the lodge hall where they will distribute mimeographed cure sheets.

At a party the other night, just before I fainted, I confided to a friend, "I've got this ringing in my ears, a rash ring around my stomach, shortness of breath and my hair is falling out."

"I'm just getting over it," she yawned.

"I had it last year," said the woman next to her.

"Oh, that," said another guest. "I got a touch of it when my 16-year-old was learning how to drive."

"Did you get a fever of 105..." asked the first woman.

"Well, no..."

She winced, "Too bad. It goes with the disease. And I don't suppose you had to summon a priest..."

"No, but I watched Danny Thomas on the Mike Douglas Show."

"Actually, what you're dealing with is your ordinary, common, garden variety breakdown," sighed another bored listener. "It's been done to death this year. It was only a one-parter on Marcus Welby and Reader's Digest gave it a paragraph in the Amusing Anecdote section."

Somehow I have the feeling if I were Marie Antoinette and confided to my best friend, "I think I'm going to be beheaded," she would probably admonish, "So, you should have gotten shots when you had the chance."

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Stubbs

Chaffee couple marks anniversary

CHAFFEE — Mr. and Mrs. Clyde M. Stubbs celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary March 2 with a reception and an open house at the American Legion Hall. The event was hosted by the couple's three sons, James Stubbs Sr., Eugene Stubbs and Lynn Stubbs.

The serving table, covered with a floor-length white cloth, was accented with gold bows and streamers. A six-tiered cake was decorated with gold roses and topped with a cluster of gold wedding bells centered the table.

An arrangement of yellow roses and white chrysanthemums centered the gift table covered with a gold cloth. A framed family tree listed the names of Mr. and Mrs. Stubbs and their children and grandchildren. It was designed and embroidered by Mrs. Jean Stubbs, eldest granddaughter of the Stubbs.

Servers were granddaughters, Janey Stubbs, Mrs. Jean Stubbs, Mrs. Mindy LeFevre, and Kathy Stubbs. Also present were five grandsons, Russell, Eddie, Neil, Steve and Jim Jr.

Stubbs and the former Ruth Wilson were married Marech 7, 1925 at Cairo, Ill., by the Rev. Hood with Gusta Watson and Ethel McClain as witnesses.

The first few years of their married life were spent in East St. Louis, Ill., St. Louis, Mo.; and Benton. In 1930 the couple moved to Chaffee where Stubbs joined his father, H. F. "Major" Stubbs in operating Stubbs Hardware and Funeral Home. The firm has been in business since 1905 and is currently managed by the third generation of Stubbs.

Ann Landers

Unwed mother is crazy with worry

Dear Ann Landers: I am a girl 20 and nearly crazy with worry. Please don't give me a sermon or tell me where I went wrong. You couldn't say anything to me that I haven't already said to myself.

I am nearly seven months pregnant and look like I'm ready to deliver any minute. The guy who I think got me pregnant is married. He says if I try to pin this on him, he'll go to court and prove I was promiscuous. Unfortunately, he could do it.

I want to go to a home for unwed mothers, and give the baby up for adoption. My mother wants me to keep the baby. My little sister died ten years ago, and Mom is sure God set us this child to replace her.

What my mother doesn't know is that the father might be black. She is very prejudiced against black people and she'd probably kill me. But it would get her off my back. Should I tell her... -- Trapped.

Dear T.: NO. Check into a home as soon as possible. Since you've had serveral lovers and have no way of knowing for sure who fathered this child, don't make additional trouble for yourself. You have plenty.

Dear Ann Landers: My mother-in-law is a lovely person -- don't get me wrong. But she has started something I can't seem to stop and it is creating serious problems.

Our two children, four and six years of age, are the stars in Grandma's crown. She adores them. Every time Grandma comes to the house (at least twice a week) she brings gifts for the children.

This has become such a habit that they expect everyone who comes to the house to have gifts for them. Several times recently they have asked friends, business associates and other relatives, "What did you bring us..."

How can I stop my mother-in-law from continuing this practice. I asked her once and she replied, "Please don't deny me this great pleasure." What now... -- Sideliner Mom.

Dear Mom: Get off the sidelines and into the game where you belong. Tell Grandma that her great pleasure is making "gimme pigs" out of your children and you can nolonger allow her to bring gifts except for birthdays, Christmas and perhaps when she returns from an out-of-town trip.

And you can do something else. Instruct your children that they are not to ask anyone, "What did you bring me..." And tell them in a way that they'll know you mean business.

Dear Ann Landers: You have always been opposed to woman nagging their husbands. Well, what if his life is in danger. That is the situation in our house and I feel it is my DUTY to nag him.

Gerald is at least 60 pounds overweight, yet he drinks a six-pack of beer every night before he goes to sleep (or passes out, I don't know which.). He also smokes three packs of cigarets a day and almost burned the house down twice in the lasts four years. (Both times he fell asleep in front of the TV with a cigaret in his hand.)

I believe a woman is derelict in her duty if she keeps her mouth shut and lets her husband eat or smoke himself to death. Her nagging could add years to his life. --Pittsburgh Wife.

Dear Wife: Who wants more years like that... Nagging a man to quit smoking or eat less has never worked, and it never will. You cannot save people from themselves.

Irish celebrate Monday

Rosie's corn beef is St. Pat's delight

By CHERIE BLANTON

I guess you all realize that Monday is St. Patrick's Day, and I think instead of just going around wearing green to get in the spirit of things; I think we all ought to put a real Irish dinner on the table for our family. Thus, I got in touch with Rosie Barkett who always celebrates (she wasn't Rosie O'Grady, but practically), the "wearin of the green" and she gave me her menu for this delightful day.

ROSIE'S CORN BEEF

Buy a nice corn beef from your favorite butcher, rinse it off, and cook as directed on the package. When tender, remove meat and add quartered potatoes, carrots and cabbage to the liquid and cook ½ hour more or 'til tender. Add meat and reheat and serve.

Now, make this sauce and have it ready to put on the corn beef if desired.

SOUR CREAM and HORSERADISH SAUCE

Combine and serve cold:
½ cup heavy sour cream
1 Tbsp. tarragon vinegar
¼ tsp. salt
⅛ tsp. pepper
2 Tbsp. grated horseradish, well drained
1 tsp. chopped chives

Since Rosie didn't tell me (I forgot to ask) what bread she uses with her menu, I got busy and in one of my cookbooks found this recipe.

IRISH SODA BREAD

4 cups sifted all-purpose flour
2 Tbsp. sugar
2 tsp. baking soda
1½ tsp. salt
¼ cup oleo
2-3 (two thirds) cup dried currants, plumped
½ cup white vinegar
1 cup milk

Mix flour, sugar, baking soda, and salt in a bowl. Cut in oleo till mixture resembles rice kernels. Add currants.

Mix vinegar and milk. Add half of liquid and blend; now add rest of liquid and stir just until blended.

Turn dough onto floured surface and knead 10 times. Shape into round loaf and bake at 375 degrees on greased baking sheet for 35-40 minuts. (I don't know why you couldn't leave out the currants if you wanted)

LIME PIE

Make a 9-inch graham cracker crust:

Mix together:
1 can Eagle Brand milk
½ tsp. vanilla
½ cup lime (or lemon juice)
2 egg yolks
4 Tbsp. sugar
Several drops of green food coloring.

Child's crayon streaks carpet

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY — I have a real problem. My three-year-old made three deep purple streaks on my carpet with a crayon. I now have them down to a pale lavendar and have tried everything I know. I would like to hear of some specific cleaning agent for wax crayon marks. I would be forever grateful. — MRS. A.F.K.

DEAR MRS. A.F.K. — There are a couple of things you might try that are recommended for use on wax crayon marks. Test on an inconspicuous corner first to see if there is any adverse color reaction, etc. Try sponging with alcohol or put one teaspoon white vinegar in a quart of warm water or use a nonflammable dry cleaning fluid. Since you have the color down to a pale shade a detergent solution might even remove that last color. Rinse any solution off well and dry carpet thoroughly. — POLLY.

DEAR POLLY — Something that really peeves me is that foods and other articles are marked with stamps that come off on everything they touch and are often almost impossible to wash off. I have to clean some off my counter most every day and it seems something less indelible would work for these stamps. — MRS. L.H.

DEAR POLLY — A.T. should consider herself lucky to have so many pressed flowers. When mine were completely dry I glued them to very heavy paper after arranging them in a natural manner with the leaves and long stems included. Next I added a mat of cardboard purchased at an art supply store and then put in a frame with glass. Mine is a mixture of flowers but I have seen this done with single plants and even their roots for a most effective result. — BARBARA F.

DEAR POLLY — A.T. who has so many pressed flowers could embroider a vase or pot on a heavy piece of linen-like material and then arrange her flowers on this. Glue them in place with that popular all-purpose white glue and spray with clear plastic or even hair spray and place in a frame with glass. — G.M.

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Nunn

Miss Hahn weds

CHARLESTON — Miss Alma Louise Hahn and Glen Allen Nunn were married Jan. 24 at St. Henry's Catholic Church. The Rev. Michael Swalina officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Moran Hahn Sr., of Charleston and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Nunn of East Prairie.

The bride wore a Victorian-style gown of beige and satin lace. She wore an old-fashioned cameo brooch and carring setting. Her three-tiered veil was made of beige netting and she carried a bouquet of yellow carnations and white baby's breath accented with yellow streamers. After the ceremony, a reception was held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Keen, aunt and uncle of the bride. Their home was decorated in blue and white.

Sandra Nunn of East Prairie, sister of the bridegroom attended the guest book. Servers were Sandra and Renissa Nunn of East Prairie, sisters of the bridegroom. Gregory Nunn of East Prairie, brother of the bridegroom, distributed rice bags.

Out-of-town guests were Delores Hale and Shawn of Lakeland, Fla., sister and nephew of the bride respectively, and Moran Hahn Jr., of Anaheim, Calif., brother of the bride.

The couple lives in East Prairie.

Radio stolen

A citizens band radio was stolen from a car parked in the Missouri Delta Community Hospital parking lot between 10:30 p.m. Wednewday and 8:30 a.m. Thursday.

Police said the car belongs to Don Chamberlain of Lilbourn, but was parked in the parking lot by his brother Charles, also of Lilbourn.

The car was unlocked when the theft occurred. The radio was valued at $215.

Students now lack good training in fundamentals

By RONALD REAGAN

"No one cant rite hardly anytime." That was the headline. The story left little doubit about this matter. If you think your youngster is the only one in school who uses sentence fragments, run-ons, poor spelling and misplaced punctuation, you may find some consolation in knowing that this problem is more than an individual one; it's national.

Ronald Reagan

In a recent survey of 436 colleges, the Association of Departments of English found that students are leaving high school with a much poorer training in fundamentals than before. The survey also showed that problems aren't exclusively those of students from lower-income families. Middle-class kids are apparently affected just as much.

Nearly half the entering freshmen at the University of California in Berkeley last fall had to take a remedial English course called "bonehead" tec-because they failed a qualifying grammar and essay test.

Most teachers seems to agree that the problem isn't a new one. It's always been there, but it's more intense and widespread than ever before and it's probably being diagnosed more energetically. Some teachers think too much television viewing is the main cause. It's probably true that young people aren't encouraged to read, either at school or at home. One educator summed up the importance of reading this way: "Students must read well to write well."

If you'll think back to your own high school days, you probably dreaded those endless grammar drills, plotting out subjects, predicates and objects; stuffing your head with rules and exceptions-to-rules until you could reel them off from memory. This was interspersed by singsong recitations of "Evangeline" or "The Rhyme of the Ancient Mariner," the purpose for which you never could divine. Well, it now appears that such rigorous drills, as part of compulsory courses and coupled with a well-planned and supervised reading program, are really the key to one's ability to write clearly.

During the 1960s the ferment in education didn't leave the English departments unscathed. In many states and communities compulsory English classes were reduced in number. More became "electives."

And, for many who did choose to take these courses, the choice was between such things as Creative Writing, Film Making, Mythology and Detective Story Writing. These may be perfectly legitimate subjects to study, but they should be offered after the student has a strong foundation of reading and grammatical writing--not before, or there may never be an "after." One has only to remember the standard, "Like..I mean..ya know, man" monosyllables of the youth of just a few seasons ago to see that the need for change is obvious.

One metropolitan curriculum director surveyed recently was concerned that students "don't zero in on a real, solid academic core." But, a representative of the Modern Language Association--an organization of college English teachers--sees some hopeful gains.

She observes that all over the country English professors are reporting that students are becoming goal-oriented again and that they're asking for English courses that focus on essential writing skills. As she puts it, there is a shift away from "the touch-feely stage, the love-everybody, and-good-writing-will-result" days.

Amen to that! Maybe the advocates of plain old "readin' and writin'" were correct after all. In another decade or so we may finally be truning out more students who can organize a sentence properly than cannot. And, with plenty of nudging from concerned parents and teachers, they may begin reading again, too.

Malden Public Works Board seeks rate hike

In a letter addressed to the mayor and City Council, read at the council meeting Monday night, the BPW asked permission to add a fuel adjustment to the customers' utility bills in the exact amount paid to Missouri Utilities.

The BPW is uncertain of the amount of increase, but estimated that the cost could range from $50,000 to $200,000. The letter stated that the BPW could not absorb this cost.

The letter also gave reference to the rate increase imposed in August 1974, but stated the rate increase only put the board on a break-even basis for the period from July 1974 through February 1975.

Councilman Bill Smithson led opposition to approval of an increase until the council could meet with the Board of Public Works to discuss the issue.

Smithson led his remarks with reference to unemployment in Malden Industrial Park. It was estimated that the present work force of Federal- Mogul has been reduced to 200, or one-third of total employment, and Bee Cee Manufacturing Co. is still closed, due to a strike.

With these conditions and the present high utility bills and family incomes, Smithson said he thought this was sufficient reason to hold the joint meeting.

Rev. Conrad to lead meetings at Lilbourn

LILBOURN — Evangelist Harold A. Conrad of Anderson, Ind. will lead a series of meetings at First Church of God, beginning Sunday and continuing nightly at 7:30 through Wednesday. Sunday services will begin at 9:30 a.m., 10:30 a.m. and 7 p.m.

The Rev. Mr. Conrad has spoken for Evangelistic meetings, camp meetings, and youth conventions, and is a writer for "Vital Christianity", "Pathways to God" and youth publications. He has traveled throughout the United States and visited South America, Colombia, Ecuador and Panama.

He presently serves as executive-secretary of the Nation Board of Pensions of the Church of God.

The Rev. Mr. Conrad is a 1952 graduate of Anderson College with a bachelor of arts degree and from Christian Theological Seminary at Indianapolis in 1970 with a master of divinity degree. He has pastored churches in Akron, Ind., Winchester, Ky., and Indianapolis.

Since 1962 he has been active in state and national leadership levels of the Church of God.

8 candidates file in Puxico

PUXICO — With the passing of Wednesday's filing deadlne, eight candidates have filed for various offices to be filled in the April 1 city election.

Incumbent mayor J. Roy Smith will be opposed by Fred Helton.

Seeking the office of alderman from ward two is Jewell Kitchens and John Roach. Neal Holloway is running unopposed in ward one.

Also running unopposed is Alva Barnfield for police judge; Inez Holligan, city collector; and Elbert Hawthorne for city marshal.

DRIBBLING BASKETBALL WAS ELECTRIFYING

PETALUMA, Calif. (AP) — Chuck Isola, 12, Greg Hawk, 14, and Jose Weakley of Petaluma think they have set a world's record for continual dribbling of a regulation basketball.

They did it for 100 hours. The 1974 edition of the Guinness Records does not mention such a record and the trio plan to send in documentation of their feat.

Services conducted at Meeting House

CONRAN — The Meeting House, an interdenominational and nondenominational congregation, is conducting services in the former Free Trinity Pentecostal Church building. The Rev. John Little is pastor.

The schedule each week includes evening services at 7:30 on Saturday, Sunday and Wednesday and Sunday School at 10 a.m. Sunday.

Special singing and music is featured in every service.

First Baptist to host revival

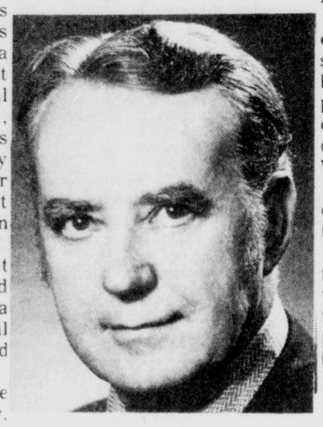
Spring revival services will begin Sunday and continue each night next week through Friday at First Baptist Church, 1101 N. Main St. Sunday's services will begin at 10:30 a.m. and 7 p.m., and all week night services will start at 7:30.

The revival speaker will be Dr. William E. Thorn, pastor of Metropolitan Baptist Church in Wichita, Kan., and the director of music will be Raymond W. Richerson of Jackson, Tenn., a full-time evangelistic singer and preacher.

Dr. William Thorn

A native of McAlester, Okla., the Rev. Dr. Thorn has been pastor of Metropolitan Baptist in Wichita since 1964. Other churches he has pastored have been First Baptist in Panhandle, Tx., for three and a half years, and Calvary Baptist in Lubbock, Tex., for 10 years.

He earned a bachelor of arts degree from Hardin-Simmons University at Abilene, Tex., and a bachelor of divinity degree at Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary at Fort Worth, Tex., then returned to Hardin-Simmons to complete a master of divinity degree. He also received a doctor of sacred theology degree at Southwest Baptist College in Bolivar.



Raymond Richerson

In his undergraduate days at Hardin-Simmons he played varsity football and was a memmber of the student council and Who's Who is Colleges and Universities.

Among his activities since entering the ministry, the Rev. Dr. Thorn has served on the Foreign Mission Board of the Southern Baptist Convention, and has been president of the Kansas Convention of Southern Baptists, vice president of the Baptist General Convention of Texas, and member of the board of development at Hardin-Simmons University and board of curators of Redford School of Theology at Southwest Baptist College.

Nonclerical activities include membership in the Wichita Chamber of Commerce and Downtown Lions Club and service as chaplain of Lions International.

Married and the father of four daughters, he also has authored three books, "A Bit of Honey", "Wake Up, Make Up and Go" and "Famous for the Gospel".

Th Rev. Dr. Thorn and the Rev. Clyde Riddle, pastor of First Baptist, have worked together in several previous revival campaigns.

Richerson has more than 30 years experience as a revival preacher and singer, including 12 years as an associate minister and ministe of music. Since entering he evangelistic field, he has averaged more than 30 revivals a year for the last 15 years and, when not busy in revivals, serve churches as interim pastor and interim music director.

For Richerson, the services at First Baptist will be a return engagement since he previously served as revival music director for the church in 1973.

A World War II Army veteran, he received his higher education at Union University in Jackson, Tnn., New Orleans Baptist Seminary and Southern Baptist Seminary in Louisville, Ky.

A recording artist for Wash Record Co. in Jackson, Richerson has a daily radio program and often appears on television and in sacred concerts. He was soloist for the pastor's conference of the Southern Baptist Convention in Atlantic City, N.J., in 1964.

A member of First Baptist Church in Jackson, where he was ordained, he is married and the father of five children. He also is active in the Civitan Club, having served as a past Valley district goernor in Tennessee and Kentucky.

Revival to begin Monday at Lilbourn

LILBOURN — Revival services will begin Monday and continue through March 23 at First Baptist Church. Evening services will begin at 7:30 Monday through Saturday, and morning services will be conducted at 10:30 Tuesday through Friday.

The evangelist will be the Rev. H. Dale Jackson, pastor of Overland Baptist Church at St. Louis. The music wwill be directed by Jack Rose of Jackson.

Each service will begin with an old-fashioned song service and will include special music each evening. "The Spirit-Filled Life" will be the topic of the morning services, according to the Rev. Paul C. Tripp, pastor, who said nursery care will be provided for children 2 years old and under during each service.

Homecoming set at Little Vine

MATTHEWS — Annual all-day homecoming services Sunday also will mark the 88th anniversary of the March 13, 1887 founding of Little Vine General Baptist Church located on Route One.

Special events of the day will begin at 10 a.m. with Sunday School, which will be trying for an attendance goal of 400.

The 11 a.m. worship service will feature special music by Dan Atwood and Mrs. Betty Cates and the newly formed Little Vine musical ensemble. Also, primary and junior age children will participate in a "church on wheels" during this time, and the Rev. Robert Cates, pastor, will preach on th topic, "Our Homecoming with God".

At noon an add a dish fellowship lunch will be served, and at 1:30 p.m., the Joylanders Quartet will be featured in an afternoon singing program.

Clinic to cover wills and estates

A special one-night planning clinic will be held tonight at 7 o'clock in First Assembly of God Church, 306 S. Kingshighway. under the direction of the Rev. Glenn Rennick of the National Assemblies of God Stewardship Department office in Springfield.

The Rev. Mr. Rennick is engaged full-time in presenting such clinics all over the country, helping inform people how to properly prepare for the future concerning wills, estates, guardianships, etc., the Rev. Loren Wooten, pastor, stated.

Some common misunderstandings include the following:

1. "Only people with dependents need wills." Wrong! Even people with no dependents need wills if they have any property or possessions at all and want to have any say about who gets it.

2. "Only rich people need wills." wrong! Even if your possessions or property is modest, you need a will if you have anything at all that you want to leave to someone.

3. "When people die without a will, the law usually disposes of their property in about the same way they would have." Wrong! The law has to assume that every type of trickery is possible, and must be guarded against. This means your dearest relatives must run up against troublesome, tiresome, costly inconveniences, legal precautions and restrictions. Without a will, the state will determine how much goes to the family and how much to the state.

4. "Only older people need to make wills." Wrong! Every day unforeseen tragedies separate young families by death. The minimum age, in most states, for a will is 18.

New Madrid church plans revival series

NEW MADRID — The Rev. Robert Richardson, pastor of Grace Temple Baptist Church in Denton, Tex., will be the guest evangelist for revival services scheduled March 22- 28 at the New Madrid Baptist Church.

Richard Root, minister of music and youth at Immanuel Baptist Church in Lebanon, Tenn., will be the song leader for the services.

The Rev. Mr. Richardson received his education at Baylor University in Waco, Tex., and Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary at Fort Worth, Tex.

He has pastored churches in Texas and North Dakota and preached in 20 states.

Root, a native of Nashville, Tenn., majored in music at Belmont College in Nashville and served churches as part-time minister of music while attending school. Prior to his position at Lebanon, he had been full-time minister of music at First Baptist Church in Winchester, Tenn., and First Baptist Church in Martin, Tenn.

The services will begin at 7:30 each night.

Methodist 'happening' to feature Jim Bass

CAPE GIRARDEAU — The Reverend James D. "Jim" Bass, director of youth evangelism ministries of the Board of Discipleship of the United Methodist Church in Nashville, Tenn. will be featured at a "Methodist happening" in Cape Girardeau the weekend of March 22-23, 1975.

Sponsored by the Cape Girardeau-Farmington and Poplar Bluff-Sikeston districts, the happening will consist of a youth evangelism workship and special "Celebration of Our Faith", both led by the Rev. Mr. Bass.

All pastores, youth coordinators and United Methodist Youth Fellowship counselors, Sunday School teachers, youth councils and officers of local UMYF groups are requested to attend the March 22 workshop. The session will begin at 9:30 a.m. and continue until 5 p.m. Those attending should bring a sack lunch. Soft drinks and coffee will be provided.

On March 23, the Rev. Mr. Bass will deliver the sermon at Grace United Methodist Church at the 8:15 a.m. service. He will also preach at the 10:45 a.m. service at Centenary United Methodist Church. That night, a "Celebration of Our Faith" program will be held in the Central High School auditorium, located at Independence and Caruthers, at 6:30 p.m. The celebration will be led by the Rev. Mr. Bass and will feature the Saints and Sinners, a 25-member youth choir from New McKendree United Methodist Church in Jackson.

The Rev. Mr. Bass, a native of Tennessee, has appeared on national and local television programs, and has tourned eight foreign countries in this capacity as director of youth evangelism for the United Methodist Church.

He is married and is the father of two children.

Full gospel and PTL groups to meet together

The Sikeston chapter of Full Gospel Business Men's Fellowship International will host the New Madrid County Praise the Lord Fellowship for a joint meeting of the two organizations at 7:30 p.m. Saturday in the Heritage House, 305 Cresap Place.

The guest speaker will be Jack Long of Claremore, Okla., an ex-convict and one-time leader of organized crime in the Tulsa area before he became a Christian. He is now a successful businessman in Claremore and president of the Tulsa FGBMFI chapter.

The meeting is open to men and women of all denominations.

Lad singers to appear

The Lad Family Singers, a part of Lad Ministries of Joplin, will appear in a two-night crusade tonight and Saturday at 7 o'clock in First Christian Church at East Prairie, according tot the Rev. H. Lee Erwin, pastor. The Lad Family Singers, along with the Gospel Lads, an all-male quartet, make up Lad Ministries. The Gospel Lads are employed by Revival Fires, an international non-denominational evangelistic ministry directed by Cecil Todd, and tour throughout the United States.

Duo to sing Sunday

The Wall Brothers, a musical duo from Sioux City, Iowa, will appear in concert at First Assembly of God Church, 306 S. Kingshighway, Sunday at 9:30 and 10:45 a.m. The brothers, Greg and Kraig, who formerly sang with the Chancellors Trio (they sang in Sikeston at a district council), are well known in the Midwest for their personal and television appearances. They have ministered in churches, youth rallies, statewide youth conventions and revival services from coast to coast, high school assemblies, civic functions and banquets. Their concerts consist of a variety of standard gospel music and new contemporary selections that has made them popular with audiences of all ages.

Pre-Easter revival slated

CHARLESTON — Pre-Easter revival services will begin March 23 and end Easter Sunday, March 30, at First General Baptist Church, 107 W. Ashby St.

The evangelist will be the Rev. Bud Culp of Wickcliffe, Ky., and special singing will be featured in each service. The evening services will begin at 7:30.

The Rev. Ted Aguilar

North Acres revival to open Sunday

Revival services will begin Sunday with services at 10:45 a.m. and 6 p.m. and continue nightly at 7:30 through March 22 at North Acres General Baptist Church, 202 Kennedy Drive.

The Rev. Ted Aguilar of Tulsa, Okla., will be the evangelist, and special singing will be featured in each service, according to the Rev. Lester Dale, pastor.

Ground breaking

EAST PRAIRIE — First Church of God will conduct a groundbreaking ceremony during the morning service Sunday for construction of a new sanctuary at an estimated cost of $125,000.

Dec. 1 has been set as the tentative completion date of the 500-seat facility. The building also will house 12 new Sunday School rooms, a nursery and choir room and will face Garfield Street.

Revival services planned at Miner

Dr. Weldon Marcum, pastor of First Baptist Church in Miami, Okla., will be the evangelist for revival services beginning Monday and continuing through March 23 at Miner Baptist Church, located at the intersection of Route H and Highway 62 East.

Ed Witham of Hamburg, Ark., will direct revival music.

The Rev. Dr. Marcum and Miner's pastor, the Rev. Grady Etheridge, became acquainted while on an evangelistic tour of Nigeria, Africa, in November 1973.

The Rev. Dr. Marcum has worked in evangelism for the Foreign Missoin Board of the Southern Baptist Convention in India, Bangladesh, Korea, Hong Kong and Rhodesia, as well as Nigeria.

Witham, full-time music and education director for First Baptist Church in Hamburg, is a graduate of Southwest Baptist College in Bolivar. He formerly served as music director in Advance.

The Miner church will begin an attendance drive Sunday. the campaign theme is "Grow in Christ". Sunday School classes will strive for high attendance for four Sundays in a row. The goal is an average of 172. The Sunday School will seek to enlist 33 new members during the drive.

The schedule for the revvival will be:

Dr. Weldon Marcum

Tuesday -- Youth night.

Wednesday -- Adults promote attendance.

Thursday -- Family night.

Friday -- Fellowship supper at 6:30 p.m.

Saturday -- Junior night.

Sunday -- High attendance in Sunday School.

Morning services will be conducted at 10 a.m. Tuesday through Friday and evening services at 7:30 p.m. Monday through Sunday.

Special activities set

CANALOU — A week of special activities at the Canalou Assembly of God Church will begin Saturday with a 7:30 p.m. youth service featuring the Rev. Len Meyers, assistant pastor and youth director of First ssembly of God Church in Sikeston, as guest speaker.

Another pulpit guest Sunday will be the Rev. Glen Graham of St. Louis, who will speak in the 11 a.m. service.

The third special event of the week will be a five-night series of revival services beginning Wednesday. The Rev. Jim Young of Nashville, Tenn., will be the evangelist for services beginning at 7:30 each night through Saturday and at 7 Sunday night.

Hinze to present concert

CHARLESTON — The Rev. Gene Hinze of Sikeston will present a gospel concert at the Charleston Church of the Nazarene Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. The Rev. Mr. Hinze has been minister of music at First Church of the Nazarene in Sikeston, and is now entering the field of full-time evangelism.

The Tolbert Sisters of Sikeston, who will sing with the Rev. Mr. Hinze for this concert, are well known throughout Southeast Missouri.

Puxico group to visit Morehouse

MOREHOUSE — The Redemptionaires and the Rev. Bill Reese of Puxico will sing and preach in both the 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. services Sunday at the Morehouse Assembly of God Church.

In addition to the regular services, lunch will be served in the church dining hall at noon and a singing program will follow in the afternoon, according to the Rev. R. A. McAnulty, pastor.

Today in U.S. history

By The Associated Press

Today is Tuesday, March 18, the 77th day of 1975. There are 288 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date—

In 1837, Grover Cleveland, who served as the 22nd and the 24th U.S. president, was born in Caldwell, N.J.

In 1902, in Milan, Italy, Enrico Caruso recorded ten opera arias for the Gramophone Company, becoming one of the first artists to recognize the phonograph as an acceptable medium for musicians.

In 1937, more than 400 persons, mostly children, were killed in a gas explosion in a school in New London, Texas.

In 1962, a cease-fire in the Algerian war was signed by French and Algerian rebel delegations in Evian-les-Baines, France.

In 1965, exiled King Farouk of Egypt died in Rome.

In 1970, Cambodian Prince Norodom Sihanouk was deposed as Cambodia's chief of state while on a visit to Moscow.

Ten years ago: A Soviet Air Force officer became the first man to leave an orbiting spacecraft and float in space.

Five years ago: Twenty persons were killed as mobs enforced a strike called by Marxists in India's state of West Bengal.

One year ago: Middle East oil-producing states, except Libya and Syria, ended their oil embargo against the United States.

Bluejays honored

By SHIRLEY PRITCHETT
Mississippi County Correspondent

CHARLESTON — School and community spirit continued to ride high Wednesday as the 1975 AAA Basketball Champion Blue Jays were honored with a special appreciation rally, sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, was held in the high school auditorium.

Charles Brink, who served as master of ceremonies of the event, saluted the team on their accomplishments during the past season commenting "this team has accomplished what no other CHS basketball team has been able to do since the tournaments started in 1923." Brink also commented on athletics as a basic part of the educational system, providing something more than what you learn from books, including school spirit, the thrill of victory, tears of defeat and the challenge to reach out and touch something no one else has been able to achieve.

The Champion Blue Jays were introduced by Coach Haskins, who made personal comments on each member's ability and conduct, both on and off the court. In addition to the players, Haskins also recognized, with personal remarks, his managers for the season, Don McCann, Stevie Williams, Tracy Gillispie, and John Haas.

Individual awards of key chains, with silver basketballs, engraved with CHS AAA Champs 1975 were presented to players and managers by Haskins on behalf of the Chamber of Commerce.

Including his remarks, Haskins spoke with emotion at times on the success of the past season acknowledging the team as the "most coachable bunch of boys I've worked with in my eleven years of coaching."

Missou, Purdue tangle today

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Youth-laden Arizona cracked the ice Thursday in the National Commissioners Invitational tournament. Southern California buckled and sank.

"This was a great win for us," said Wildcat basketball coach Fred Snowden, after his club ended a 24-year absence from postseason play with a crunching 94-78 opening round victory over East Carolina.

Elimination of the 13th-ranked Trojans was the major surprise of the day. USC had finished second to NCIT champion Indiana in last year's finals.

"It's unfortunate our season had to end this way, particularly for Gus," said a dejected Bob Boyd, coach of the Trojans.

Drake, hitting a sensational 21 of 28 shots in the second half, sealed Southern Cal's fate with a slowdown game that produced easy baskets in the final minutes. The Bulldogs entered the eight-team tourney with a 16-10 record, identical to Purdue's as the worst mark in the meet.

Keying the upset was Louisville product Larry Haralson, whose 20 points represented a high for him before the local fans. A crowd of 5,000 turned out.

"I feel very comfortable in this place," said the 6-foot-9 Haralson after stunning USC. "I looked up in the stands and saw a lot of old friends. It sort of revved me up." Drake broke away from a 59-59 deadlock behind key baskets by Haralson, Andy Graham and Terry McKissick.

Graham joined Haralson with 20 points and McKissick added 19.

"Obviously, it is one of the biggest wins of the year for us," said Drake Coach Bob Ortegel. "We didn't quit."

Purdue and Missouri, 18-8, tangle in Friday's first game. Tennessee, 18-7, and Bowling Green, 17-9, square off in the nightcap.

Arizona, now 21-6, rode the inside scoring of 6-foot-10 sophomore Bob Elliott and 6-foot-8 junior Al Fleming to outdistance East Carolina with a late breakaway.

Elliott poured in 28 points and Fleming added 22.

"The whole world is ahead for Elliott. He's so strong," praised losing coach Dave Patton. Herman Harris, the Wildcats super-sub, came off the bench to score 18 points.

Cardinals meet Bears in pre-season

ST. LOUIS — The St. Louis Football Cardinals and Chicago Bears will return to the University of Illinois campus for a National Football League preseason game on Saturday, August 23. The kickoff will be in Memorial Stadium at 1:30 p.m. (CDT). It will be the second successive year the rivals have met in Champaign. The first contest held last year resulted in a 10-7 victory for the Cardinals.

The St. Louis team, coached by Don Doryell, are coming off a 10-4 season and their first division championship since 1948. The Bears are optimistic of moving up the National Football Conference Central Division ladder under a new coach Jack Pardee.

The game will not be part of the Cardinals' season ticket package, but the tickets will be made available to fans of the Big Red, bears, and Illinois. The start of ticket sales will be announced shortly by the University of Illinois.

Towering 6-foot-6 David Tropf (45) looks for a past during quarterfinal round play of the class A state tournament at Flat River Wednesday night. The Hornets top scorer had 14 points in half a half after scoring 31 against North Pemiscot Monday night. AHS faces undefeated Glasgow Friday afternoon in semifinal round play at Columbia.

Hornets meet state champs

By BILL HARRISON

COLUMBIA — The Big Orange Machine moved the last big roadblock out of the highway between Advance and Columbia Wednesday night at Flat River by rushing past the Crocker Lions with ease 80-60 but the driver Carroll Cookson is headed for a headon collision with the state's number one class A basketball team and defending champion, Glasgow, Friday afternoon in the semi-finals.

Glasgow defeated Greenfield for the championship game in 1974 78-73 after Greenfield had beaten Advance 70-65 in the semi-final.

The Yellow Jackets will be after the new state record of 65 wins in succession at the Hornets expense in the 1:35 opener at Hearnes Multi-purpose Building on the campus of the University of Missouri. Bradlyville had 64 in a row previously.

Coach Royston's Yellow Jackets have been the state's top rated quintet from the season's beginning and have lived up to that standard with their undefeated record.

The Advance Hornets have been rated down as low as ninth but came up to sixth in the last state wide poll by the sportswriters and sportscasters before the regionals began.

Advance has had to battle uphill since the beginning of state tournament play as the Hornets had to take on fifth rated North Pemiscot Monday night in first round action and Crcoerk was the second rated team in the state.

The championship game may well be played Friday between Advance and Glasgow as the other two teams left, North East Nodaway and Mansfield were not rated in the poll. Glasgow defeated the third rated team, King City Wednesday night.

Advance got a good look at the Yellow Jackets in the state tournament last year but never had the opportunity to play the talented team as they came up in different brackets.

In the yellow Jackets the Hornets will be facing a similar type team as coach Royston has a running team with plenty of height. Glasgow likes to play a man to man defense with some zone. "We run a lot but are quite capable of playing a ball control type of game as well," said coach Royston.

The big scorer for the Yellow Jackets is Larry Butler who is a 6-4 forward and averaging 32 points a game. Butler scored 108 points in the final four games of the state tournament last year. He averages 10 rebounds a game. At the other forward position is 6-4 Fred Davis. He averages 10 rebounds a gamne. At the other forward position is 6-4 Fred Davis. He is averaging 14.5 points a game with 13 rebounds. At the center position will be Kenny Thies at 6-7. Kenney is averaging nine points a game with eight rebounds. The two guards are 5-10. David Holtwick is avveraging six points a game and Dan Parks is averaging seven points a game.

Coach Carroll Cookson has been chomping at the bit for a chance to get at the Yellow Jackets since the Hornets loss in the finals last year to Greenfield and Smithton, Advance had a young team and inexperience might have cost them the championship.

Coach Cookson will take a well balanced scoring attack into the showdown with no particular player being the man to stop as Glasgow has in Butler.

At the center position will be 6-6 David Tropf. David is a fine shooter from the baseline and a devastating rebounder. Coach Cookson uses a one guard system with his son Steve running the offense and bringing the ball up the court against the press defenses. The other guard is classified as a wing man and Ron Oller is the boy who holds down the position. Oller is capable of handling the ball and an outstanding shooter from outcourt. The other wingman is Joe David Cummins. Joe David is an excellent shooter from anywhere on the court and is capable of handling the ball to set up plays as well. Royce Yount is the other forward and at 6-2 has the capability of jumping with anyone 6-4 or 6-5. Royce gives the Hornets good rebounding on both the offensive and defensive boards. The sixth man on the team that coach Cookson likes to use is 6-2 Danny Long. Long gives the Hornets good defensive rebounding and is tough inside on offense as well. Other reserves that coach Cookson can call on are guard Ronnie Veale, who at 5-10 is a good ball handler and good shooter. Brad Berry is another good forward that the Hornets can count on for good defense and good shooting.

The Hornets are a fast moving, good shooting outfit that can play excellent defense as well and the team is capable of playing any type of offense or defense.

Unbeatens advance to state event

COLUMBIA, Mo. — Two teams which have survived the Missouri high school basketball season without a loss so far will put their unblemished records on the line Friday afternoon.

Glasgow, 31-0, is paired with Advance, 27-3, in the first game of the Class 1A semifinals at the Hearnes Fieldhouse at the University of Missouri. Northeast Nodaway, also 31-0, will face Mansfield, 26-5, in the second game.

In Class 4 A basketball, two Kansas City area teams face two from the St. Louis area Friday night in semifinal play. Raytown South, 23-2, meets McCluer, 18-9, and Raytown, 21-2, plays Sumner, 23-6.

The championship games will be played Saturday night, following two afternoon consolation contests.

Sports Corner

By Ron Jaynes

Charleston and Lilbourn reportedly are returning to the state tournament this weekend!

But, the Bluejays and Panthers aren't returning to play -- they're going back to Columbia to cheer the Advance Hornets to the class A state title.

This past weekend was a memorable one, perhaps the most memorable in the almost 10 years of sports writing for this scribe!

The reason was the joining of the LHS and CHS cheering squads and their fans during the weekend and cheering each other onto state titles.

To know that two teams who battles into overtime and then went into state tournament play and backed each other is something else. Normaly one local team likes to see the other lose, but not Lilbourn and Charleston, the fans of each team were behind the other 100 per cent.

Isn't it nice to be from Southeast Missouri, where the fans -- no matter who they have been for all season --- back their district team right down to the finish?

If we've learned anything during our sports writing career --- it's the Bootheel has the state's best fans ... And that's been evident for years, especially when you see players and coaches from many different teams in the district -- converging on Columbia and backing the Bootheel representative.

I'm proud to be a Bootheel "hillbilly!" Aren't you?

Good luck you Advance Hornets ... Let's show the city boys where the basketball is the best ... SOUTHEAST MISSOURI!

Manager not pleased with Card performance

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Manager Red Schoendienst, a man of few words, summed up his feelings about how the St. Louis Cardinals performed against the Chicago White Sox this way: "I didn't like anything today."

Cardinal batsmen managed only two hits off White Sox pitching Thursday, one by Lou Brock and one by rookie Joe Lindsey, as the Redbirds went down to a 5-0 defeat.

Pitching was not the Cardinals' strong point, either, as Lynn McGlothen gave up three runs on six hits and Mike Garmen yielded the last four of ten Chicago safeties.

"Greg Terlecky was the only pitcher who impressed me," said Schoendienst. Terlecky, a 22-year-old righthander, is making his fourth visit to St. Petersburg, twice as a member of the varsity and twice as a batting-practice pitcher.

He retired six Chicago hitters in a row Thursday--but he doesn't think that performance will be enough to keep him with the team.

"It would take a miracle or a big trade for me to make it," the 6-foot-3 Terlecky said. "I count nine pitchers as cinches to stay, with three having no options left.

NSM — No stated minimum price. These properties are offered as-is in Period II only on a one-time basis with reserve and HUD retains the right to refuse any and all offers.

Properties not sold at Tuesday bid-openings are automatically deleted herefrom pending Period changes, price adjustments and other actions by HUD, and will be relisted in the earliest practicable Friday advertisement.

Bid openings will normally be held on Tuesdays unless a legal holiday falls thereon in which case bids will be opened the next day, Wednesday. Normal Monday deadlines will be changed to preceding Fridays when a legal holiday falls on Monday. Otherwise intervening holidays will have no effect on the ten-calendar-day offering periods.

As-is offerings are listed for sale "AS-IS" with no warranty, not eligible for FHA mortgage insurance, all cash.The provisions of paragraph 11 of the sales contract do not apply as to guarantee. These properties may or may not conform to code requirements. Selling brokers will orally inform purchasers of the foregoing prior to execution of sales contract. Prices are minimum acceptable subject to sealed bid procedure.Special provisions applicable to lead paint treatment will apply. $150 sales bonus applys to all as-is offerings. The right is reserved to hold as is offers for a maximum of ten days from date of bid opening. Bid requirements will conform generally with those set out in Forms HUD-9662 and 9662-A as modified by this notice and copies of said forms are available upon request.

Until further notice all section 235 financing is suspended. Properties designated as being available for 235 may be sold under Section 203 or with other non-assisted financing.

This listing represents an addendum to the monthly public information release entitled "HUD-Acrquired Properties available for Sale or Rent." and is subject to the terms and conditions set out there in. Copies of said P. I. R. are available on request.

EQUITY

At the end of the year, when you're renting, what have you got to show for all the bucks you laid out? A fistfull of cancelled checks. And that's it.

But when you're a modern mobile home owner, your hard earned money doesn't evaporate, it builds equity. Your estate grows. You've got an investment in the future.

You're never too old to hear better.

CAPE GIRARDEAU, Mo. - A free offer of special interest to those who hear but do not understand words has been announced by Beltone. A replica of the smallest Beltone aid ever made will be given absolutely free to anyone answering this advertisement.

Try it to see how it is worn in the privacy of your own home without cost or obligation of any kind. It's yours to keep, free. It weighs less than a third of an ounce, and it's all at ear level, in one unit. No wires lead from body to head.

These models are free, so we suggest you write, for yours now. Again, we repeat, there is no cost, and certainly no obligation.
